To get action, write ACTION LINE, Box 230, Long Beach, Calif. 90801, or dial 432-3451 between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m., or 5 p.m. and 9 p.m., Monday through Friday. Questions to be answered are selected for their general interest and helpfulness.

Lost the Bloom

Q. I have some very nice tomato plants in my yard which have lots of blooms, but no tomatoes. A raised ring forms on the stem of each bloom causing the bloom to dry up and fall off. Can ACTION LINE prescribe a remedy for this? C.M.A., Long Beach.

A. There is nothing you can do, according to C. A. Loos, senior biologist at the Los Angeles County Agriculture Commission. The problem is due to cold mornings when there is a temperature drop. Mr. Loos added that the plants should bloom properly now that the weather is warmer and more stable.

Wood Worker

Q. I am a British immigrant and have been here two months. I hope to have my wife and two sons join me here soon. My oldest son is 20 and has finished five years of carpentry apprenticeship. How does one find a suitable job for him? I never see want ads for carpenters in newspapers. W.G., Paramount.

A. The vast majority of carpenters in this area are union members who are employed through union hiring halls, says Terry Slawson, business representative for the Carpenters District Council of Los Angeles County, 2200 W. Seventh St., Los Angeles. He says 90 per cent of the contractors in this area have agreements with labor unions and use the hiring hall system. "We maintain a non-discriminatory hiring list and refer our members to contractors on a rotation basis," he added. He suggested that when your son arrives he go to the carpenters union nearest him and apply for membership. Your son will be given an examination, graded as an apprentice or journeyman, and then sent out on jobs. You might also want to purchase some books on carpentry practices in the United States at the Carpentry Joint-Apprenticeship Fund Office, 520 S. Virgil St., Room 304, Los Angeles 90005.

South Sea Skirt

Q. Where can I buy what might be called a male sarong? It is a simple, highly colorful piece of cloth wrapped around the waist. It is worn by men around the house and is very cool. V.Q., Long Beach.

A. From your description, we think you might be referring to a lava lava. It is a rectangular cloth worn like a kilt or skirt by Polynesian natives. It is usually in a bright, cotton print. You can purchase a lava lava at Hawaii Styles, 2603 Pacific Coast Highway, Torrance. The cost is $3.98 and up.

Matchless Hobby

Q. Where can I find a matchbook cover collection club? Should I save the entire matchbook including the matches or just the covers? W.P., Long Beach.

A. We matched you up with the Long Beach Matchbook Cover Club, which meets the first Sunday of every month at 2 p.m. in the Houghton Park Clubhouse, 6301 Myrtle Ave. Isabel Lord, bulletin editor for the club, says normally collectors carefully remove the matches from the matchbooks and place the books in albums the club sells. "Collectors will often specialize and obtain books in such categories as restaurants, Navy ships, colleges or foreign covers. At state and national conventions, they display their collections and vie for prizes," she adds. For more information about the local club and the national organization called the Rathkamp Matchcover Society, write Miss Lord at 1312 E. 215th Place, Torrance.

Holiday's Busman

Q. We recently took a chartered bus to Apple Valley. One of the stops along the way was Lake Arrowhead. Many of us wanted to get off the bus and look around but were told the law prohibited anyone from leaving the bus. Is there such a law? C.A.H., Seal Beach.

A. "There is no ordinance preventing passengers from getting off the bus," said Dorothy Howell, head of the Leisure World Local Tour Club who organized the trip. "But our schedule was very tight that day and we just couldn't take the time to let everyone wander around." Mrs. Howell also explained that she had tried to make luncheon reservations for the group at Lake Arrowhead, but lake officials said they couldn't accommodate such a large group.

Trailers for Sale or Rent?

Q. Can ACTION LINE find out if there are any mobile home parks in or near Downey which rent mobile homes with an option to buy? Also are there any dealers who do this? L.W., Downey.

A. ACTION LINE checked with the mobile home parks in the Downey area, but could not find any parks which have mobile homes for rent. Most parks do not allow their residents to rent their mobile homes. A spokesman for the Trailer Coach Association told ACTION LINE that he knows of no dealers who rent mobile homes with an option to buy. You might check the classified ads in Western Mobile Home News regularly. A spokesman said the weekly periodical occasionally carries ads from people wanting to rent their mobile homes. You may contact the paper at GA 4-0984.

SOUND OFF!

Just as Los Angeles has been referred to as Smogville by the freeway, Long Beach has certainly earned the title of Dust Bowl by the sea. Everyone who uses the beach or lives close to it is treated to a dust storm every day. The beach is raked and sifted until the sand is powdered and every building, shrub and tree in the vicinity is gray with a thick coating of dust. It's nice to have unlimited funds for the care of the beach, but couldn't we use a little more imagination? Perhaps we could remove the papers that blow halfway up the bluff and clear out the trash from under the stairways or maybe even plant something to keep down erosion at the end of the streets. Anyway, it would be nice to get some other benefits from this great beach-cleaning expenditure and cut down on the dust storms. Mrs. C. C., Long Beach.

Hubert Launches L.A. Push

S.F. Mayor, Not
Yorty, to Greet
Vice President

By BOB HOUSER
Political Editor

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey today starts a four-day California visit which includes a private reception with the 174-member Democratic convention delegation and some bows to show business campaigning.

The 57-year-old Humphrey, stumping for the presidential nomination, was to arrive at Burbank Airport at 1:45 p.m. Among reception committee members was San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto, but not Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty. Yorty has bolted the regular party organization in past presidential elections.

First stop in his three-day Los Angeles schedule was to be at 3 p.m. at El Mercado de Los Angeles, a federally financed, community-owned corporation designed as a self-help ghetto area project.

ALSO ON THE itinerary: Taping of Dick Clark's "It's Happening," a young people's TV show scheduled for airing at 1:30 p.m. Friday on Channel 7; taping of the Channel 2 "Newsmakers" show for telecast Sunday at 4:30 p.m.; a voter registration rally at 4016 S. Central Ave., Los Angeles, at 8:45 p.m., sponsored by Black Democrats for Humphrey.

The vice president meets at 11 a.m. Sunday with a task force on domestic, urban and poverty problems in the Century Plaza Hotel. Then he tapes a KCET Channel 28 (educational television) interview program which will be telecast at 9:30 p.m. Monday and return at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Thousands of young people are expected for Sunday's closing event, a youth gala on the castle grounds set of the movie "Camelot" at Warner Brothers-Sevens Arts Studio. The party is hosted by Nancy Sinatra and will feature a program to include Miss Sinatra, Norman Crosby, Bill Dana, Joey Forman and Trini Lopez and his orchestra.

The vice president will speak and answer audience questions.

HIS MONDAY schedule opens at a 9 a.m. meeting with employees of the two-year-old Watts Manufacturing Co., 1901 W. El Segundo Blvd. He will be accompanied by United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther and pop singer James Brown. At 10 a.m., Humphrey arrives at a bus departure area in Watts at 104th Street and Central Avenue to see children off.

Yank Base Attacked in Thailand

BANGKOK (UPI) — Unidentified "intruders" attacked the U.S. air base at Udorn, Thailand, Friday night, wounding four Americans and damaging one plane. It was the first known ground attack against a military installation in Thailand.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said the attack lasted about 30 minutes and one intruder was killed. He said the four American casualties received "major" wounds.

The spokesman identified the attackers only as "a small group of intruders." Udorn is in northeast Thailand, where Communist Pathet Lao guerrillas have been active for some time.

The spokesman said it was understood that one plane was damaged in the attack. He said a C-141 Starlifter transport was set afire but the blaze was quickly extinguished.

The intruders attacked about an hour and a half before midnight, with small arms.

Unconfirmed reports said one Thai soldier also was wounded.

Between 5,000 and 6,000 American personnel are at Udorn, one of the bases from which the U.S. carries the air war to North Vietnam. It is an Air Force headquarters and also a base for U.S. reconnaissance, transport and rescue aircraft.

'Major' Dope Raid Nabs 4

Police narcotics officers arrested four men in a major dope raid early today in Los Angeles and seized narcotics and drugs that included more than 100 pounds of marijuana.

The marijuana, pressed into bricks and loaded into a car, was confiscated when the arrests were made during a "switch."

Also seized was some LSD, thousands of amphetamine pills, and smaller amounts of hashish, heroin and cocaine.

One nice thing about the old-fashioned blacksmith—when you brought your horse in to be shod, he didn't think of 40 other things that ought to be done.

VIOLENCE MOUNTS IN HAIGHT-ASHBURY

'Love Mecca' Has 2 Killings in Week

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The mecca of the Love Generation, the hippies' Haight-Ashbury, was jarred Friday by the second murder of a youth in 72 hours.

The killing came on the crest of a wave of violence which has been mounting all summer in the district, now abandoned by many pacifist-type hippies and bustling with long-haired drug pushers and hoodlums.

Last week 128 persons were arrested in three nights of rioting on Haight Street, rapes and robberies have become daily occurrences around the six main blocks of the district.

The latest victim was found at 4:15 a.m. in the doorway of a pet shop. He had a .45-caliber revolver — loaded and cocked — tucked in the waistband of his velveteen, bell-bottomed trousers, and $12 in his pockets.

Residents said they heard two shots. The victim was struck under the left armpit and in the back.

The youth, who wore long sideburns and a scraggly moustache, was identified as Walter Wayne Bishop, 20, of Pensacola, Fla.

Homicide inspectors had few clues except that Bishop, also known as Stephen J. Kerwin, had a reputation for "burning" — selling fake marijuana and LSD pills.

Bishop had been around the Haight-Ashbury for at least a year and had marijuana-smuggling charges pending against him in San Diego.

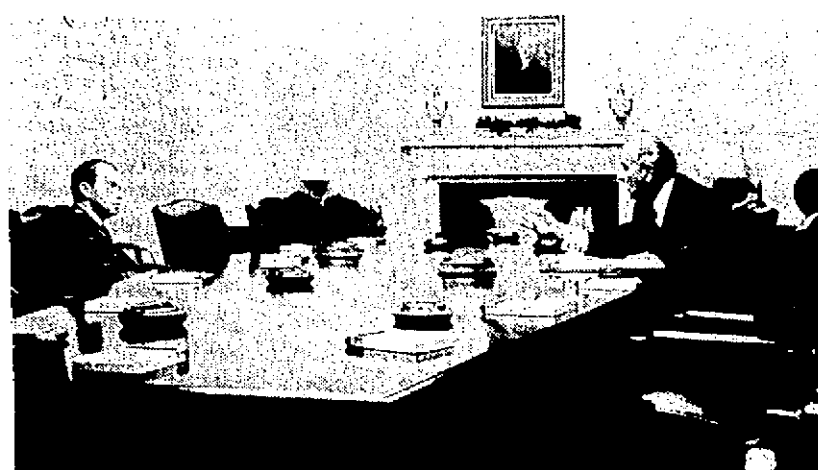

His shooting took place only three blocks from an apartment house where the 19-year-old son of a wealthy Oakland contractor was found shot to death Tuesday in the lobby.

The family and friends of that victim, Robert Prodanovich, a pre-med student, denied that the youth spent much time in the Haight-Ashbury or that he had any connection with drugs. However, police found 27 small packets of cocaine in his pockets.

The two killings were reminiscent of two murders within a week during last year's "summer of love" in the Haight-Ashbury. Both of those youthful victims were involved in the drug trade.

The body of one was found dismembered in an unfurnished apartment and the body of the other was discovered, shot in the back of the head, stuffed in a sack at the bottom of a cliff.

Charges of Murder Filed in Killing of 3 Ohio Police

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Murder charges were filed Friday against a bearded black militant, and National Guard troops made plans for a gradual withdrawal as the city showed signs of returning to normal, four nights after a riot wracked the east side and left 10 dead.

Negro astrologer Fred (Ahmed) Evans, who claimed to have instigated the riotings which erupted Tuesday night, was charged with first degree murder in the slaying of three white policemen during the height of the outburst.

With the city's Negro mayor, Carl B. Stokes, expressing his belief "that the crisis has passed," State Adj. Gen. Sylvester T. Del Corso said he probably would withdraw 50 per cent of the National Guard troops if the east side remained quiet.

Stokes, warning that there still was "cause for concern," imposed a midnight-to-6 a.m. curfew. He also ordered bars and gas stations in all business areas to close at 11 p.m.

The seven-square-mile area in the east side took on the appearance of a normal weekend night prior to the Friday night curfew, which ordered all persons and traffic off the streets in the cordoned-off section.

People strolled along the streets which nights before had been the scene of looting and firebombing and the usual gatherings were found on the corners during the warm night. Plans were being made to hold a summer arts festival as scheduled Saturday night in the previously racially tense section.

The only difference in the normal routine was that law and order was being maintained by police and National Guardsmen, carrying rifles and patrolling in jeeps and cruisers.

Combined memorial services were scheduled for this morning for the three police officers who were shot down as they responded to a call for help from an unarmed tow truck crew pinned down by sniper fire.

Reagan to Testify for Platform Panel

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan will testify Wednesday before the platform committee of the Republican National Convention in Miami, his office announced Thursday. His pre-convention trip will include an address at a Republican fund-raiser in Winston-Salem, N.C., Tuesday night.

Rosie Grier to Help

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Massive Roosevelt Grier, former defensive lineman for the Los Angeles Rams, was sworn in Friday as a member of the California Delinquency Prevention Commission.

OK to Be Supported by Reuther

By HERB SHANNON
Aerospace Editor

United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther will report details of a proposed three-year contract with McDonnell Douglas Corp. to a mass meeting of the 30,000-member Long Beach UAW Local 148 at 2 p.m. Sunday in Veterans Memorial Stadium.

If accepted by vote of the Long Beach local and others across the nation and in Canada, the agreement would avert a strike of 40,000 McDonnell Douglas workers, scheduled for Monday.

Reuther said he will recommend acceptance of the contract, announced jointly by the union and company Friday at the conclusion of negotiations in Los Angeles.

He called the pact "historic" and said he hoped it will "create a pattern" for further agreements in the aerospace industry.

NEGOTIATORS for the International Association of Machinists, which claims some 23,000 members in McDonnell Douglas plants at Huntington Beach, Torrance, Santa Monica and Palmdale, also announced

33-Million Six-Month Profit Told

By FRED HAMLIN
Staff Writer

McDonnell Douglas Corp. Friday reported an after-tax profit of $33.4 million for the first six months of 1968, compared with a net loss of more than $13 million for the same period last year.

Chairman James S. McDonnell also announced consolidated sales for the corporation, which includes Douglas Aircraft Division in Long Beach, were $1.8 billion for the first half of this year — up from $1.25 billion in the January-through-June period of 1967.

HE SAID a significant increase in Long Beach-built Douglas jetliner deliveries was accomplished in the six months ended June 30 this year — a total of 51 DC-8 four-jet transports and 103 DC-9 twins. In the same period last year, only 12 DC-8s and 54 DC-9s were delivered.

(Late deliveries of commercial jetliners, and increased costs attributed largely to that cause, led to severe financial losses for Douglas Aircraft Co., which subsequently merged with McDonnell Aircraft Corp. of St. Louis, Mo., to form

Security Costs for Ray Mount

Combined News Service

Shelby County has spent approximately $6,600 in direct expenditures to protect James Earl Ray, Sheriff William N. Morris Jr., said Friday. This is in addition to an estimated $1.5 million spent by the Federal Bureau of Investigation to investigate the death of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Morris said about $50,000 more was being spent by the county for modifications at the jail but that these were security precautions planned earlier and just now being carried out. Morris, the man charged with the safety of Ray, accused assassin of the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., revealed the cost figures as he met with the press one week after Ray was placed in his custody.

He said Ray had been examined by a physician "and the report would indicate he is in good condition." He said Ray exercises in his cell "doing pushups and walking. He reads newspapers and magazines and plays gin rummy with his guards." Morris said that Ray "to date has not requested any visitors." Ray's two attorneys, Arthur Hanes and Arthur Hanes Jr., of Birmingham, are the only persons other than his guards who have seen Ray.

He gave a breakdown on a direct security cost for holding Ray as approximately $5,000 for the closed circuit television surveillance system; $453 for the steel plates which cover the windows of Ray's cellblock; $1,500 for air conditioning and $35 for a locked stainless steel box in which Ray's meals are delivered.

Other costs which Morris said were not directly attributable to Ray included approximately $35,000 for new security screens on the jail windows and $15,000 to secure the prisoner acceptance area at the jail entrance, including $3,000 worth of bulletproof glass.

CUBA FETES 15 YEARS OF CASTRO RULE

Prime Minister Fidel Castro, marking the 15th anniversary of his revolutionary movement, acknowledged Friday that "people need things" in shortage-plagued Cuba, "but the revolution cannot give what it does not have. And it must distribute what it has in the most fair way," Castro told a huge crowd in the main square of Santa Clara, capital of Las Villas Province, about 240 miles east of Havana. Castroite forces routed troops of President Fulgencio Batista at Santa Clara nine years ago. Castro's speech in the blazing sun was unusual for its relative brevity — less than two hours — and for its lack of reference to communism and anticommunism in other countries. The bearded leader confined his subjects to shortages of food and consumer goods and other internal matters. The government has instituted rationing of milk products and some other items because of shortages.

Earlier, the Kremlin congratulated Cuba on the 15th anniversary of Castro's first guerrilla uprising but its words were less enthusiastic than a year ago, indicating a cooling of relations with its Caribbean protégé.

NATIONAL $45 Million More to Feed Hungry

WASHINGTON — Congress Friday voted an extra $45 million to feed needy children and adults as part of a $5.5 billion annual appropriations bill for the Agriculture Department. The $45 million will be spent to buy lunches for poor school children or to provide an adequate diet for other persons "determined by the Secretary of Agriculture to be suffering, through no fault of their own, from general or continued hunger." The appropriations bill was routinely accepted by the House and Senate and sent to President Johnson for his signature. In the case of adults, ability to work would be taken into account, and beneficiaries would be expected, if qualified, to register with an employment service.

Agriculture Department sources said hungry children probably would get priority attention. It has said that as many as 5 million youngsters now miss lunch at school because they don't have money.

Man Kills Self in N.Y. Store
NEW YORK — A man walked into the Abercrombie & Fitch department store Friday and purchased a box of shells. He quietly took a 12-gauge shotgun from a rack and shot himself in the face, dying instantly in front of horrified clerks and patrons. The fashionable firm immediately closed its gun shops in all seven of its stores across the country. Police said the victim was Vladimir Vorlicek, 34. He gave clerks no hint of what he was about to do. Police disclosed no further details. A neighbor, who lived on the same floor of the Queens Apartment building where Vorlicek lived until the first of the year, said he was an immigrant from Czechoslovakia.

Captured GIs in 'Good Shape'
WASHINGTON — The State Department said Friday it has received word that 11 American servicemen and one South Vietnamese soldier captured July 17 by Cambodia on the Mekong River are "being well treated." The State Department said the word came from the Australian government. Australian officials in Phnom Penh were allowed to see the crewmen and found them in good shape, the department reported. The U.S. has sent Cambodia a note apologizing for the craft's intrusion of Cambodian waters and requesting release of the men, but Phnom Penh still has not replied.

CAB Lifts Ban on Airline Talks
WASHINGTON — The government, saying the crowding of the skies around some cities "has reached critical proportions," Friday agreed to let airlines serving the four most congested areas hold discussions on what they could do to relieve the problem. The Civil Aeronautics Board lifted its ban against such industry wide discussions because of the growing delays on takeoff and landing at many airports. The ban normally is in effect to avoid possibly collusion. The board's actions would permit all airlines — both U.S. and foreign — serving New York, Chicago, Los Angeles and Washington to meet and establish "general criteria" for solving the congestion problem.

Arrest 15 Cuban Nationalists
NEW YORK — Fifteen Cuban nationalists were arrested Friday night outside the Cuban mission to the United Nations after they tried to throw eggs at the building, police said. The would-be egg throwers were part of a larger group of anti-Castro Cuban exiles who picketed the mission to protest the 15th anniversary of Fidel Castro's 26th of July movement. Police said all 15 were charged with disorderly conduct.

CAPTIVE SAYS HE'S "TOO YOUNG TO DIE"

Unearth Red Hospital

Combined News Services

SAIGON Saturday — U.S. cavalrymen have unearthed a huge North Vietnamese underground hospital equipped with drugs ranging from heroin to Novocain, pints of blood and surgical equipment, U.S. spokesmen said today. The cavalrymen found the hospital beneath 37 huts in a Communist base camp near the old imperial capital of Hue. The complex was capable of caring for 500 troops, the spokesmen said. Among the supplies found in the underground hospital were 100 pounds of heroin, 5,000 bottles of penicillin, 12 bags of Novocain, 150 pints of blood, 13 cases of bandages, 10,000 aspirin tablets, 15 microscopes and surgical instruments, masks and gowns. Early Saturday, Communist guerrillas slammed a barrage of 10 rockets and 15 mortars into the huge U.S. airbase at Da Nang, the third such attack on the key base this week. The North Vietnamese field hospital 24 miles west of Hue was discovered Thursday night in the same area where four large ammunition caches were found earlier that day. U.S. military spokesmen announced the discovery this morning. In addition to the medical supplies found in the underground hospital, the U.S. troops also found 230 North Vietnamese uniforms.

Biafra-Nigeria Peace Talks Set
NIAMEY, Niger — Nigeria and the secessionist Republic of Biafra Friday night concluded six days of preliminary talks with an agreement to meet Aug. 5 in Addis Ababa to open a full peace conference on their 13-month-old civil war. However, a joint communique issued at the end of the preliminary talks here failed to mention any agreement on a mercy corridor to funnel food and medicines to a reported 600,000 starving Biafrans inside the war zone.

New Pueblo Apology Demand
MOSCOW — North Korea's military attaché in Moscow called a news conference Friday and announced his government would never release the crew of the USS Pueblo until the U.S. apologizes "for their crimes." The Navy intelligence ship and 82 crewmen have been held in North Korea since Jan. 23 when Communist gunboats intercepted the vessel in the Sea of Japan.

Russ See U.S. Intervention
MOSCOW — The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda charged Friday that the situation in Czechoslovakia has deteriorated to the point where there is now a danger of U.S. intervention in support of the liberal Prague regime. "From numerous comments on Prague in the reactionary American press it is possible to see what is on the mind of the representatives of the imperialist circles in the United States," Pravda said.

Boycott Threatens Hijackers
ALGIERS — Algeria Friday faced a possible international boycott of its airline and stiff diplomatic pressure from its major western benefactor France to free the Israeli jetliner and 24 Israelis hijacked four days ago.

Two senior officials of the International Airline Pilots Federation flew in to try to convince the Algerians to release the crew and passengers. "We don't exclude the fact that our federation is thinking in terms of a boycott if we don't receive satisfaction," said federation Vice President Ola Forsberg of Finland during a Paris stopover.

Skopje Quake Remembered
SKOPJE, Yugoslavia — Five years ago Friday a catastrophic earthquake destroyed 80 per cent of Skopje and killed 1,070 persons. Skopje then was a city of 200,000. Now it has grown to 350,000, the third largest city in Yugoslavia. The earthquake was commemorated on this fifth anniversary by a solemn ceremony in the City Council.

NASSER AILING

President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt arrived in the Soviet Georgian city of Kutaisi by air from Cairo Friday and immediately went to a nearby resort for medical treatment, Tass reported. The official Soviet news agency said Nasser went to the spa of Tskhaltubo, about five miles northwest of Kutaisi in the Caucasus Mountains. "Tskhaltubo is famous for its curative springs," said Tass. The agency did not say how long he would stay in the Soviet Union, but reports from Cairo said it would be two to three weeks. The nature of his ailment has not been announced.

Informed Egyptian sources said it may be a stomach ulcer or diabetes.

BARDOT BEAU

Rumors circulated along the French Riviera Friday that actress Brigitte Bardot, married to West German businessman Gunther Sachs, has a "tender friendship" going with Italian playboy Luigi Rizzi. Sachs hasn't been seen at their Saint Tropez villa in weeks while Rizzi accompanied Miss Bardot on a recent cruise to Sardinia and Monaco and turns up for almost nightly parties at the villa.

TRANSPLANT

A Briton who had been on the verge of death for a week was given a new heart Friday, that of a paint sprayer who had died in a traffic accident. It was Britain's second heart transplant. The surgical team was headed by Dr. Donald Ross. The hospital identified neither the patient nor the donor, but London newspapers named the patient as Reginald A. Forde, 48, of suburban Bromley, father of two.

BALL IN KOREA

George W. Ball, U.S. ambassador to the U.N. arrived in Seoul Friday after two days of talks with Japanese leaders in Tokyo and called on President Park Chung-hee and other South Korean officials. Next stop of Ball's Far East tour is Taipei, Formosa.

STUDENTS DEFILE U.S. FLAG

Two 17-year-old high school students were arrested Friday for allegedly dragging a U.S. flag in the street and sitting on it to play a game of cards.

Rohn R. Peckman and John Blunt were charged with "defiling or, by act, casting contempt upon the flag of the United States of America." State police said they saw the pair drag a 3-x-5-foot flag from their car at the main intersection in downtown East Lansing, and pull the banner through the street. The state police alerted campus police at Michigan State University when the boys headed onto the campus, they said. The campus police said they found the boys sitting on the grass on the flag, playing gin rummy. They were taken before Lansing township justice George Nutter. The offense is punishable upon conviction by a $100 fine or 90 days in jail.

PINHAS SAPIR

Israeli Finance Minister Pinhas Saper was named Friday to take over as secretary-general of the Labor party, replacing Golda Meir, who resigned. Political quarters viewed the selection of Saper as another move by Prime Minister Levi Eshkol to blunt Gen. Moshe Dayan's drive for the prime ministry. Saper, 59, was tapped for the post by the party leadership and approval by the party secretariat is expected to be a mere formality.

L.B. TO RECEIVE $1 MILLION

Call School Aid 'Tax Relief'

By BOB SCHMIDT
From Our State Bureau

SACRAMENTO — The Legislature, scrambling frantically to conclude its unfinished business so it can adjourn next Friday, apparently will try to describe financial aid to schools as property-tax relief so that the sales tax will remain at 5 cents after Sept. 30.

A Senate school aid bill was amended drastically in the Assembly Friday, then approved and sent back to the upper house for concurrence with the amendments. The Senate was expected to refuse concurrence, thereby permitting establishment of a two-house conference committee which will draft a compromise measure.

Assemblyman Kenneth Cory, D-Westminster, asked Assembly approval of the bill, SB95, merely as a formality so that the conference committee could be created. The Assembly complied, 69-0.

The language of the Assembly-approved bill was left imprecise deliberately, but as the measure now stands the Long Beach Unified School District stands to receive approximately $1 million.

If a conference committee is appointed as expected, it will consider the elements of the original SB95 introduced by Sen. Stephen P. Teale, D-Railroad Flat; SB702, by Sen. Nicholas Petris, D-Oakland, and AB864, by Assemblyman Leroy F. Greene, D-Sacramento.

Assemblyman Victor V. Veysey, R-Brawley, offered the amendments which would add $155-million property tax relief to SB95.

The Senate last week defeated a measure which would have distributed $155 million to the state's 58 counties for use as property tax relief. Veysey's proposal is that the same amount of money be distributed to school districts for that purpose.

"My formula for school distribution would be based on average daily attendance in grades kindergarten through 12, weighted by factors including:

"1. Burden of nonschool property taxes including city, county and special districts;

"2. Local effort to finance schools measured by school tax rate, and

"3. Ability of school district to raise local funds measured by assessed valuation per child."

The amendments call for a declaration on the tax bill as to the amount of state sales tax delivered to the school district for property tax relief.

"We must rely on the good faith of local school boards to deal responsibly with this matter," Veysey said. "I believe they will deliver property-tax relief to their voters if the public knows how much state money was received for this purpose."

The Senate was expected to act on the bill Monday or Tuesday, and to name its three conference committee members at the same time.

Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh said he would name Cory, Greene, and Assemblyman John G. Veneman, R-Modesto, to represent the lower house on the committee.

Under provisions of legislation passed last year and earlier this session, the Legislature has until Sept. 30 to pass a property-tax relief measure amounting to at least $155 million. If it fails to pass such a bill, the sales tax would be reduced from 5 cents to 4½ cents per dollar.

Hepatitis Epidemic in State

A statewide epidemic of hepatitis has broken out in California, according to the State Board of Health.

California can claim 52 per cent of all the serum hepatitis cases reported in the United States, James Chin, a researcher with the state virus laboratory in Los Angeles, reported.

This large increase in the number of cases was linked to the growing problem of drug abuse in the state.

Infectious hepatitis is acquired by swallowing food or other material contaminated with the virus causing the disease, Chin explained. He said the serum variety was acquired through transfusion of blood that contains the virus, noting that drug users spread the disease by sharing an unsterilized needle that has become contaminated.

Car-Trunk Killing Figure Convicted

A Superior Court jury Friday convicted a West Los Angeles man of second-degree murder in the slaying of a wealthy Tarzana steel salesman whose bullet-riddled body was found in a car trunk at the Mexican border.

The defendant, Arnold Helfend, 33, will be sentenced by Judge John L. Cole Aug. 14. He faces a five-year to life-imprisonment term.

The seven-man, five-woman jury deliberated three days before convicting Helfend of killing Max Levin, 33, the husband of Helfend's former wife, Adel, last Oct. 23.

Helfend was arrested at the border the day of the killing when inspectors noted the car he was driving was weighted down in back.

When they checked the trunk they found Levin's body. He had been shot nine times.

During the trial, Helfend testified that his former employer, Philbert Stanley Aguirre, 25, killed Levin.

Aguirre, of Glendale, previously pleaded guilty to second-degree murder. He will be sentenced by Judge Cole on Wednesday. Aguirre in his testimony at Helfend's trial, contended his employer killed Levin.

It was the second trial for Helfend. The first ended in a mistrial when jurors deadlocked 10 to 2 for first-degree murder.

Oil Spill Penalties Adopted

From Our State Bureau

SACRAMENTO — The Assembly has approved and sent to the governor's desk a measure imposing still stiffer penalties for spillage of oil into the state's harbors and waterways.

Vote on the bill, introduced by Assemblyman James A. Hayes, R-Long Beach, was 60-0.

Under provisions of the bill, AB1867, a fine or up to $6,000 may be imposed on an individual or a firm responsible for the spillage. The measure previously had been approved by the Assembly, but in the Senate the amount of the maximum fine was increased from $5,000 to $6,000 so the superior court would have jurisdiction in the matter.

'Red Route' for Beach Freeway Solidly Supported

By BOB GEIVET
Staff Writer

Backing of a so-called "Red Route" for the first segment of the Huntington Beach Freeway solidified Friday at a State Highway Commission hearing in Huntington Beach, where engineers raised the price of their recommended "Orange Route."

Garden Grove, Fountain Valley, Huntington Beach, Cypress, Buena Park and Fullerton announced for the Red Route, generally following the Pacific Electric Railway tracks from the Pacific Coast Freeway alignment to Lampson Avenue in Garden Grove. It is west of Beach Boulevard.

Westminster and Stanton stood alone in their demands for the more costly Orange Route east of Beach Boulevard.

District Engineer John Legarra, who two months ago recommended the Orange Route alignment, stood by his choice. He disclosed that his staff had increased the estimated cost by $1.6 million to a total of $84.3 million for constructing the 7.4 miles of freeway.

on this routing. He claimed that benefits would outweigh the additional cost.

He also added 137 families to the list of those who would be dispossessed by this route. The total now stands at 1,458 families.

"THE Red Route would be 6.6 miles long, cost $83 million and dispossess 777 families, officials said.

A combination of the red and a "Dashed-Green and Green" routing along Golden West Street between the ocean and Bolsa Avenue would be second choice of west county cities favoring the Red alignment. This combination would be 6.1 miles long, cost $82.1 million and affect 1,073 families.

About 600 persons were in the Huntington Beach High School Auditorium for the hearing, third in 18 months on this segment of the freeway which ultimately will link with the Foothill Freeway.

Five of the seven state highway commissioners were present at Friday's review. Prior hearings were conducted by staff members.

Pressure developed after Legarra's recommendation of the Orange route when the commission met at Napa. This led to Friday's full-dress commission hearing.

Fred C. Jennings of Riverside, vice chairman of the commission, said that the record will be kept open for 30 days for filing of detailed data. Then the commission will decide the routing.

Buena Park, Fullerton and Cypress joined Friday's hearing to back the red route because it has a direct bearing on the alignment of the second segment — from Lampson Avenue northward through their cities to the Pomona Freeway. The commission said hearings on this segment's alignment will be called for early next year.

Landscaping Slated on 2 Freeways

From Our State Bureau

SACRAMENTO — A Garden Grove landscaping firm has been awarded two state freeway beautification projects totaling more than half-million dollars.

The State Department of Public Works said Friday that Curtis — V.C. Enterprises will landscape a 3-mile section of the San Gabriel River Freeway and a 2.3-mile section of the Garden Grove Freeway.

A contract for $284,506.70 was awarded for the San Gabriel River Freeway job, which will extend from just north of Carson Street south to the San Diego Freeway. Planting will consist of 1,160 trees, 4,120 shrubs and more than 460,000 plants for ground cover.

The Garden Grove Freeway project, to cost $244,607.75, will run from Beach Boulevard to Brookhurst Street. It will include 455 trees, 4,780 shrubs and 375,000 ground cover plants.

Backers Meet for Wallace

Supporters of the presidential candidacy of former Alabama Gov. George Wallace Friday announced an open house for 1 p.m. Sunday at a new North Long Beach Wallace Campaign Headquarters, 5444 Atlantic Ave.

North Long Beach chairman and office manager Mrs. Pamela Barsby said refreshments will be served. Literature, bumper stickers and novelty items will be available.

In extending her open house invitation, Mrs. Barsby said: "Wouldn't you rather form your own opinions than to accept those of others?"

U.S. Awards Pollutant Fight Fund

CANOGA PARK (CNS) — The federal government has awarded a half-million-dollar contract addition to a Canoga Park plant working on a process of removing pollutants from the air.

The contract extension was announced by North American Rockwell Corp.'s atomic international division. It was awarded by the U.S. Public Health Service.

It calls for continued work on the process, designs for a small pilot plant, and a test facility.

The process involves the use of molten carbonate to remove sulphur dioxide, a major pollutant, from the flue gases of power generation plants burning fossil fuels, the company said.

agreement on a three-year contract, averting a strike deadline of Monday at those locations.

The machinists membership will vote on the agreement at 1 p.m. Sunday in Shrine Auditorium, Los Angeles.

The two contract proposals were believed to be similar in wage and fringe benefit provisions. Negotiators for both unions said the pacts contained "substantial wage and salary increases."

If ratified, the contracts will go into effect immediately, with all wage provisions retroactive to July 22.

THE MACHINISTS announced earlier they were seeking increases of 25 cents an hour across the board the first year and 20 cents an hour for each of the present aerospace firm.)

In Friday's announcement, McDonnell, an industry pioneer, said the after-tax profit of $33,423,265 in the first half of 1968 amounted to earnings of $1.19 per share of corporation stock outstanding.

IT ALSO reflects the 10 per cent surcharge on federal income taxes, which is retroactive to Jan. 1, 1968, and which reduced earnings for the first six months by $3,290,572, equal to 11 cents per share. On a pro forma consolidated basis of the merged firms, the net loss in the first six months of 1967 to $13,144,862 was 49 cents per share.

On the basis of the new earnings report, McDonnell Douglas directors declared a regular quarterly dividend of 10 cents per share to be paid Oct. 7 to shareholders of record Sept. 13. The corporation's consolidated backlog as of June 30 this year was $4.345 billion, compared to $4.839 billion a year earlier.

the following years. The increase would amount to about 7 per cent the first year and 6 per cent the following two years, approximately the equivalent of gains made by the UAW in the auto industry early this year.

Reuther said he negotiated on the basis that aerospace and automotive industry workers have "comparable" skills and perform similar work and, thus, should enjoy the same benefits.

In addition to the economic boosts, the agreement includes a wide range of health and welfare benefits, including improved pensions, medical insurance, a new dental plan, a prescription drug program and psychiatric care.

THE GUARANTEED annual income plan was raised from 65 per cent of the gross weekly wage to 75 per cent.

J. Curtis Counts, Douglas Aircraft Co. vice president, chief negotiator for the company, said the guaranteed income plan will not be costly to the firm, because it is not paid to employees who transfer to other plants during layoffs at their home facility.

AT THE NEWS conference in the Biltmore Hotel, where the negotiators had been meeting almost continuously for 48 hours, Counts said the agreement was "fair" to both employees and stockholders.

First break in the negotiations, which had been moving slowly since the first preliminary meetings last June 4, came in the predawn hours Friday.

The UAW and the company announced a 4 a.m. tentative agreement on a contract for 3,450 Canadian employees. The proposal came only a few hours before a strike deadline set at the plant near Toronto, which makes wings for the DC9 final assembly line at Long Beach.

Shortly afterward, the IAM said its negotiators would take a company proposal to its membership for a vote. The UAW agreement for American workers was approved by rank and file members of the negotiating committee minutes before the press conference at 2 p.m.

State JC Chancellor Appointed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sidney Brossman will become the first chancellor of California's 82 junior colleges.

Dr. Brossman, associate director of the Coordinating Council of Higher Education, was given the new $25,000-a-year post by the Board of the California Community Colleges, established July 1.

His election was by a unanimous vote. To fill the new post, Brossman will take a $1,000 annual pay cut from what he has made for 4½ years.

Brossman said he would like to conduct a study of the relationship of the 15-member board to the constitution and the authority of the board. He also said he would study the value given credits taken in junior colleges by state colleges or the University of California.

Meeting officially for the first time, the board unanimously selected Brossman after a three-hour executive session. Board president Harold F. Wolters said he didn't know exactly when Brossman would assume his new duties but said the appointment was effective immediately.

to the Watts Labor Action Council Camp in Saugus.

While the vice president tapes a Channel 7 press conference with student questions at 11 a.m. Monday, (to be shown at 12:30 p.m. Aug. 4), Mrs. Humphrey will hold a press conference in the Biltmore Hotel.

A TOWN HALL luncheon in the Biltmore Bowl is the vice president's next stop, where he will deliver an address and answer audience questions. After that he has a private meeting with the editorial board of the Los Angeles Times, has a 3:30 p.m. reception with the Los Angeles County Federation of Labor in the Century Plaza Hotel, and tapes the Channel 7 Joey Bishop Show at 6:30 p.m. It will be seen at 11:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Humphrey will meet with the California Democratic delegation, the one elected in support of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, at 5:30 p.m. Sunday in the Century Plaza Pacific Palisades Room. He departs for San Francisco Monday night and winds up his California visit Tuesday after speaking to the Commonwealth Club and meeting with Northern California labor leaders.

UNDER WINTER SUN With Long Beach boasting temperature in the high 80s, and large crowds expected to pack Southland strands, not even the courage of Australian sun-lovers is likely to distract connoisseurs from the magnificence of local ornament. But 19-year-old Helen Monti of Sydney, Australia, who seeks that hard-to-get winter tan in the land down-under, is a fetching off-season competitor for California appreciation.

No Evidence of Road-Bill Bribery, Senate Chief Says

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate Rules Committee decided late Friday there was "no evidence" to warrant an investigation of an alleged attempt to buy votes on a controversial highway bill.

There has been no evidence up to this point that there has been any cold-blooded propositions offered to the members for their votes," Senate leader H. M. Burns, D-Fresno, told a news conference.

Sen. Robert S. Stevens, R-Los Angeles, charged in a dramatic Senate speech Friday that attempts had been made to "improperly influence" the votes of senators on a bill to construct a four-lane highway along a nine-mile stretch of Mulholland Drive in Los Angeles.

Stevens, upper-house manager for the bill, killed it rather than try to pass it under a cloud of bribery.

Apollo 7 Moon Test

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — Three astronauts "flew" their Apollo 7 moonship on a make-believe flight Friday in the first such test here since Virgil I. Grissom, Edward H. White, and Roger B. Chaffee died 18 months ago in a launch pad fire.

Walter Schirra, Donn Eisele and Walter Cunningham took command of Apollo 7, mounted inside a giant, airless chamber, to electronically exercise the new breed of space capsules.

It was the first hazardous Apollo 7 test the three astronauts have taken part in at the moonport and the first exposure of astronauts to a pure oxygen spacecraft atmosphere here since the three Apollo 1 pilots were killed.

Gets Prison Term

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Vincent A. Caserta, 35, of La Canada, was sentenced Friday to one to 10 years in prison for operating a phony electronic parts investment scheme which allegedly netted him nearly a half-million dollars.

Caserta, who pleaded guilty to three counts of grand theft May 29 after a grand jury indicted him on 31 counts, told a probation officer he was a "compulsive" bettor on horses.

He said he told investors he could buy surplus electronic parts at discount prices and resell them at big profits, which would filter back to investors. He then paid off the investors with bad checks, investigators said.

Caserta told his probation officer he made "unfortunate investments," bet at the track and recouped, then gambled again and started to pay off those who had lent him money.

"The essence of my crime was to borrow money from people to pay others and attempt to win money at the track to solve all my problems. I must have been crazy," Caserta said.

Deputy probation officer Kenneth Miller recommended against probation.

Kennedy Withdrawal Leaves Scramble for Ticket

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's elimination of himself scrambled the choices Friday for the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

The Massachusetts senator's announcement in Boston that he "will not be able to accept" the second place nomination if offered because of "purely personal" reasons seemed likely to foreclose any convention draft.

The impact of the Kennedy decision was felt most heavily in the presidential campaign camp of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Although Humphrey has said consistently that he intends to make no commitments in advance of his own possible nomination, many of his supporters have felt that a Kennedy name on the ticket would help the Democrats win in September.

Kennedy's assertion that his decision is "final, firm and not subject to further consideration" was combined with reference to the family responsibilities that devolved on him with the assassination of his brother, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The Massachusetts senator, in a four-paragraph statement, said he will speak out, however, on "foreign and domestic policies our party must pursue if it is to be successful in the coming election."

Because of the personal element he cited, few politicians seemed likely to go ahead with any effort to draft him.

The result apparently will be to turn attention to a long list of names, with emphasis on individuals who might attract the Negro, urban and liberal voters who have not flocked to Humphrey's cause.

Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., said that in this developing situation "Sargent Shriver is the only man who makes sense, if Humphrey can't get Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy."

Shriver, ambassador to France, is a Kennedy brother-in-law who formerly headed the poverty campaign and was first director of the Peace Corps.

Ribicoff's reference to Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., Humphrey's chief rival for the top nomination, brought up the constitutional issue that both men are from the same state, and Minnesota electors could not vote for both, unless one moved.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana applauded Kennedy's decision not to enter any contest for the vice presidential nomination.

"I think it is in his own best interests," Mansfield said.

"I hope this will end the importuning and pressuring by various individuals and groups. He should have the peace and quiet that he needs."

The assassination of Robert Kennedy and the 1963 assassination of President John F. Kennedy have left Edward, 36, with family responsibilities for 15 children. They are his own three, Robert's 10, and John's two.

About the same that Kennedy was issuing his announcement, Texas Gov. John Connally said in Texas that he had joined five other Southern governors in urging Humphrey to choose a running mate "more moderate than you are."

Connally said Humphrey agreed with the governors' suggestion, but "no personalities" were involved in the talk.

Meeting with the vice president, Connally said, were Govs. Buford Ellington of Tennessee, new chairman of the National Governors Conference; Robert E. McNair of South Carolina, new chairman of the Democratic Governors Conference; Hulett Smith of West Virginia, Charles L. Terry of Delaware and Mills E. Godwin of Virginia.

President Deadlock Combated 'MAN TO MAN TALK' LBJ, Nixon Meet on Major Issues

From Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — Six senators, three of them former national chairmen of their parties, are preparing to endorse a plan to prevent a "deadlocked" presidential election in Congress.

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., was the sixth to agree to the plan, which will be submitted Monday to all other senators.

The others are Sens. Vance Hartke, D-Ind.; Philip A. Hart, D-Mich.; Hugh Scott, R-Pa.; Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., and Thurston Morton, R-Ky.

Morton and Scott are former Republican national chairmen, while Jackson is a former Democratic national chairman.

COPIES OF their plan were drafted Friday, ready for delivery.

The plan calls for a commitment from Republican and Democratic candidates to the House of Representatives that if they're elected, and if the choice of a President falls on the House of Representatives, they will cast their votes for the presidential candidate who wins a plurality of votes in November.

The plan was forwarded to congressmen last week by Reps. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., and Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz.

Gov. John H. Chafee, Republican, Rhode Island, proposed a similar plan at the national governors conference in Cincinnati Tuesday, but it failed.

THE SENATE plan also would call for a commitment on the part of Republican and Democratic senators that if the selection of a vice president should be forced on the Senate, they would select the candidate who gains the plurality in November.

One of the six senators behind the plan said it will be presented to the platform committees of both the Republican and Democratic national conventions.

"All three plans are based on the possibility that former Alabama Gov. George Wallace will draw enough electoral votes in November to prevent either the Republican or Democratic candidate from winning the election. In that event the choice of a President would be left to the House."

Richard M. Nixon returned to the White House Friday for 90 minutes of "man to man, across the table" talk with President Johnson on international affairs.

Later, the former vice president told reporters that not until he arrived at the White House to keep an appointment with Secretary of State Dean Rusk did he know for sure that he would see Johnson.

The presidential briefing completed Johnson's series of meetings with all the major presidential contenders. He met earlier in the day for 30 minutes with George Wallace, presidential candidate on the American Independent Party ticket, in a chat which Wallace characterized as informative. In previous weeks, Johnson met New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy and Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

NIXON said he wanted a second foreign policy briefing from Rusk — and arranged for one — prior to submitting a Vietnam statement to the Republican Platform Committee in Miami next week.

He said his briefing with Johnson for an hour — later joined for 30 minutes by Rusk and Walt W. Rostow, a White House foreign affairs adviser — was "very helpful."

"I felt it was completely candid and forthright," he said. "We talked man to man across the table."

Nixon was asked about Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's decision not to accept the Democratic vice presidential nomination.

"I am sure all of us in political life appreciate the tremendously difficult decision he had to make," he said. "Speaking in a completely nonpartisan way, I think he is a man who has a great future in American politics."

Other developments: —In Detroit, House Republican Leader Gerald Ford of Michigan predicted the GOP convention would go beyond two ballots and after that the nomination

Humphrey Enlists JFK Former Aide

—In Lansing, Mich., Gov. George Romney, who withdrew as a contender for the Republican presidential nomination when the polls showed he was trailing in April, denied that he would resume his active candidacy. But he said none of the contenders — Richard M. Nixon, Nelson A. Rockefeller or Ronald Reagan — has generated "essential enthusiasm." He said he would go to the convention "to fight for the principles I know this country must follow to find peace. I wish I could enthusiastically go to fight for a particular candidate. At this point, I cannot." Romney will be his state's favorite son candidate at Miami Beach.

—In Providence, R.I., Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller told a cheering crowd Friday that if the United States further escalates the Vietnam war China and the Soviet Union "will take it right up to nuclear war. The enemy is plenty sophisticated. They can't win. We can't win. We're at a stalemate," the New York Republican said, repeating his call for a negotiated peace.

—In Salt Lake City (AP)— Lawrence F. O'Brien, former postmaster general, was named Friday as campaign director for Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the Deseret News said.

O'Brien resigned as postmaster general in April to campaign for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, and he once campaigned for the late President John F. Kennedy.

M. DeMar Teuscher, Deseret News political editor, said O'Brien's appointment was confirmed by Paul Gibson, field director for Humphrey in Utah, Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona.

McCarthy Abandons Plans of Paris 'Assessment' Trip

By AL EISELE
From Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — Sen. Eugene McCarthy has abandoned his announced hope of going to Paris for a first-hand assessment of the prospects for settlement of the Vietnam war, sources close to the Minnesota Democrat said Friday.

The sources said McCarthy decided against the trip after President Johnson firmly rejected in Honolulu last week U.S. support for any settlement of the war built around a coalition government.

The first indication that McCarthy might not make the trip came last Sunday when he said in a television interview that he would not go "if I thought that my going was going to interrupt or interfere with current peace negotiations."

However, McCarthy is now understood to have made his final decision not to go to Paris because of the President's firm stand against allowing the National Liberation Front to have a voice in any elected government.

McCarthy feels, according to persons privy to his thinking, that in light of Johnson's Honolulu position, he would stand little chance of speeding up the peace talks by going to Paris.

McCarthy said as late as Wednesday that he still was considering the trip but that he would not make a final decision until Friday. His personal secretary, Miss Jean Stack, said Friday that McCarthy had not yet made up his mind.

However, others close to McCarthy said that the senator definitely will not make the trip. They said that he feels it not only wouldn't help in bringing

LBJ Gets 5.5-Billion Home Bill

Funds Will Aid
Poor Families to Buy Their Houses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress sent to President Johnson Friday a $5.4-billion housing bill that breaks new ground with federal help for low-income families to buy, instead of merely rent, homes.

Enactment of the massive bill, continuing and expanding existing housing programs and embracing innovations such as government backing for insurance against flood and riot damage, was a signal victory for the Johnson administration in its year-long seesaw contest with an often balky Congress.

THE HOUSE took the final action, passing a compromise version already approved by the Senate. The vote was 226-135.

Most of the money authorizations in the measure are for three years. The amount of actual funds made available depends on later appropriations. The administration has said the measure makes possible the first third of Johnson's 10-year housing goals.

The new interest subsidy program is estimated to help 500,000 families, mainly in the $3,000-$6,000 annual income bracket, buy homes. For qualified families, the government would pick up part of the interest cost — in extreme cases all the interest above one per cent.

To be eligible, families in general would have to have an income not more than 35 per cent greater than the level established in their own communities for admission to public housing.

They would have to devote 20 per cent of their income to housing, with the subsidy based on the differences between that amount and the actual payments.

THE BILL would authorize $300 million for this program in the next three years.

It includes an authorization of $1 billion for the model cities program, to encourage large-scale comprehensive upgrading of blighted areas. However, Congress in the past has funded this program well below the authorizations.

Another $400 million would be authorized to step up construction of public housing.

Government assistance for the development of new towns, a Johnson program originally stricken by a House committee, was restored in the final version.

The flood and riot damage insurance sections provide for reinsurance pools to encourage private companies to write such policies. The government would contribute to the pools with borrowing authority up to $250 million to help meet catastrophic losses.

ANOTHER innovation is a requirement for extensive disclosure in interstate advertising of land sales, designed to protect buyers against investment in shaky or overpriced ventures.

Also new are provisions for interim community services in areas slated for redevelopment and for social services to tenants in public housing.

Savings and loan associations, a major source of housing credit, were given new borrowing and lending authority, including provisions by which they could be allowed quickly to expand their lending activities if housing were hit by a money shortage.

$125 Cash Taken

... edge wading on a sun baked day, plunking stones on the quiet, shady side, or sailing stick boats to the way goodbye.

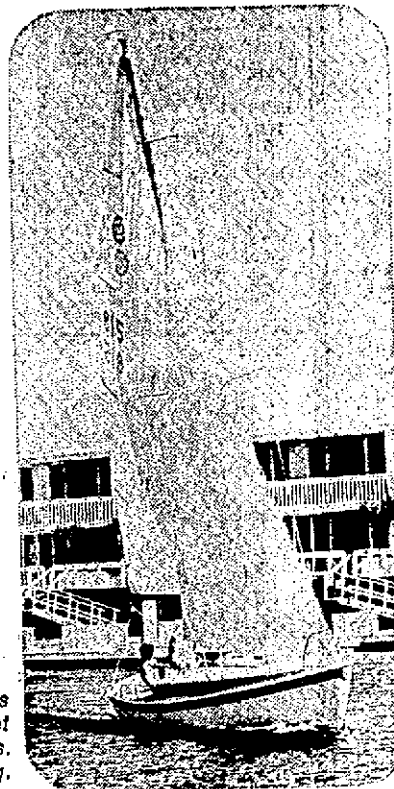

... on an early morning any morning, churning past the breakwater to the sea just to see if there's anything such as a lucky catch or just to drift off and listen to the greatness of a quiet nothing.

... especially right for quiet times. Together times. Sampling that nose-wrinkling sea air that never gets inland, and watching a lazy day sail down the channel at your back door.

... water, water everywhere. Blue green pools of it. In backyards. At the club. Channels of it. Nine miles of spanking boatways. And oceans of it. The whole Pacific stretching from this morning right into the sunset.

... as rippling dacs snap in the wind or tillers bump boats to their dock. Wet with fun and wet with work when you're scrubbing down decks. And finally, happily, when the social pennant's flying.

... with healthy splashes of friendship. A game of gin, bridge, whatever, with the right potion for the time of day, and just cool enough breezes skipping off the channel onto your sundeck.

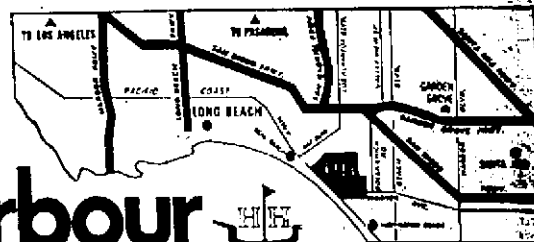

... right next to the tennis courts where there's a slide that tips into the pool. Kids escape to get nut/brown on a water diet of skiing and surfing. That's Harbour living.

Cal Expo Fights for More Visitors

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The highly publicized $34-million California State Exposition and Fair is drawing only 6,173 visitors a day, and Expo officials are juggling operating hours in hope of boosting attendance.

When the new facility opened July 1, there were some estimates that Expo needed 25,000 visitors a day, at $1.50 each, to break even financially.

ON THAT basis, the nonprofit Expo corporation would be losing money.

But an Expo official contends the hour changes merely are for public convenience; that 6,173 visitors daily is about what was expected at this point, and no one expected Expo to break even this year.

The hours change is designed "to better accommodate the public," said Expo publicist Art Wood.

"After four weeks of operation, we can see the pattern that has developed," Wood told a reporter. "The public wants to come out later and stay later. We're adjusting to this."

But he acknowledged that the net effect would be a cutback in hours the exposition is open daily. The work force has been cut back by one-fourth, he said.

THERE SHOULD be no inference that the exposition is losing money because of poor attendance, Wood added.

"We never anticipated breaking even this first year," he said.

The Legislature approved and the governor signed a $414,000 loan to help the facility through its infancy. The money is to be paid back later.

Wood said, "Attendance has been just about as we anticipated, although not as high as some had hoped."

Wood said attendance was expected to increase appreciably during the State Fair period of Cal Expo's first year of operation.

Also, horseracing is scheduled to begin next month.

AS OPENED this month, Cal Expo is a partly completed version of the ultimate plan: a "California showcase" complex of permanent exhibits, amusement park, horseracing, fairs, and other activities.

Cal Expo is being built and operated by a nonprofit corporation established by the Legislature.

Wood said he expects Expo to seek more funds from the Legislature next year for operations.

"We're not likely to break even then, and possibly not even by 1970," he said.

HOW TO SAVE MARRIAGE(?)

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Topless dances can spark up faltering marriages of spectators, two clinical psychologists say.

The opinion was presented at a hearing of the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board this week on six charges brought against the Ore House, a bar featuring topless dancers and waitresses.

The sight of bare-breasted dancing girls is good for both welfare and morals of men and women, it was testified by Dr. John Marquis, chief psychologist at the Palo Alto Veterans Hospital, and Dr. David Newman, clinical psychologist at San Jose State College.

Said Marcus, "Semi-nude females performing suggestive dances can be good for desensitizing anxieties people have about nudity and sex. Exposure to stimuli in a relaxed, unthreatening atmosphere can make a person feel more comfortable about his anxieties."

Topless performances, Newman said, "exhaust men's curiosity about women's breasts, which American males seem to have a preoccupation about."

The operator of the Ore House, Vaughn Doak, backed up the two experts with statements from 9,000 persons who think watching topless dancing is healthy.

Movie Guide

As a guide to moviegoers, this newspaper on Wednesdays and Saturdays lists capsule contents of many of the major motion pictures playing the Long Beach area. The classifications represent the judgment of the Film Board of National Organizations.

THE ODD COUPLE — Walter Matthau and Jack Lemmon in lively adaptation of Neil Simon's hilarious comedy about two men who set up housekeeping together when their wives leave them. Adults.

DEVIL'S BRIGADE — War film about unattractive brigade of soldiers. Coarse language and humor, glorification of violence offset occasionally convincing performances. Adults.

GREEN BERETS — Tale about violent heroics of American forces in Vietnam. Adults.

THE FOX — The latent lesbian relationship between two young women living on an isolated Canadian farm is shattered with the arrival of an attractive man. Starring Sandy Dennis, Anne Heywood, Keir Dullea. Adults.

YOURS, MINE AND OURS — Simple-minded but generally enjoyable comedy about a widow and widower who marry and bring under one roof a total of 18 children. Cast headed by Lucille Ball, Henry Fonda. General audience.

THE ONE AND ONLY GENUINE ORIGINAL FAMILY BAND — The Cleveland-Harrison presidential campaign of 1888 disrupts the unity of a big farm family in light-hearted Disney musical. With Walter Brennan, Janet Blair, John Davidson, Lesley Ann Warren. General audience.

GUESS WHO'S COMING TO DINNER — The problems ahead for a racially mixed marriage are intelligently posed in warmly human story starring Spencer Tracy, Katharine Hepburn and Sidney Poitier. Adults and mature young people.

CLOSELY WATCHED TRAINS — A youth's attempts to achieve manhood are portrayed with earthy frankness and humor in a Czech film set in World War II during the Nazi occupation. Adults.

State College Rep Players Shine in Old-Time 'Meller'

By RALPH HINMAN JR. Drama Critic

We've been deluged in recent years with re-creations of old-time "hiss the villain, cheer the hero" melodrammer.

Few of these hit their target with the almost uncanny accuracy displayed this week in California State College at Long Beach summer repertory's final seasonal offering, "Ten Nights in a Bar Room."

Only once, and then deliberately, did the youngsters break character by updating the classic 19th-century-American mood of the show. The performance sustained an almost tinny quality throughout.

Most of these latter-day stagings burlesque the gestures, the classic declama-tions and gooey sentimentality of a bygone era. It is this added hambone we laugh at so loudly.

State's version, because of its high fidelity, becomes so engrossing a social study that one might even be excused for not always whopping it up. What emerges on state is that which our great-grandparents saw in tank-town opera houses spread across half a continent.

THE GENERAL pace is leisurely—a planned maneuver, I'm sure, since the timing of pratfalls and other sight gags always is crisp. And the story is completely predictable in its unsuited efforts to win over the audience to temperance causes.

Of particular note in a solid cast are Shorly Huffine doing the drunkard's daughter who herself dies an untimely death; Errol Allan as the beanpole villain with sneering leer; Mike McCann, a simple country lad who is not all that simple.

Others in the cast, directed by Stanley Kahan, are Patrick Hadlock, Stan Yocum, Ray Pitts, Dennis Norman, Shirley Pecoraro, Virgil Labrum, Lee Griffin and Diane Dumas.

Interspersed throughout are variety musical numbers of a past day, all very well done. James Murdock at a honky-tonk piano offers appropriate airs.

"Ten-Nights" closes its run at 8:30 tonight in the campus Little Theater. The summer season actually ends with repeat matinees Saturday and Sunday at 2:30 p.m. of a new children's play, "Greensleeves Magic."

BOOK REVIEWS

One for Antique Collectors

Reviewed by Prof. J. H. Krause, Art Department, California State College at Long Beach.

THE GENTLE ART OF FAKING FURNITURE. By Herbert Cescinsky. Dover, $4.

Dover Publications deserves continued praise as it follows through on the important function of reprinting important out-of-print works for the student scholar in the arts and the interested general reader. With an expanding list of titles, Dover continues to bring out important works at paperback prices at a time when the cost of most art books is fast soaring out of buying range.

"The Gentle Art of Faking Furniture" is the unabridged and unaltered republication of the original work published in 1931, and although 37 years have passed, what Herbert Cescinsky has written is just as valid today as it was when it was first published. This in spite of the fact that the more important lawsuits mentioned in the text will not be familiar to readers, and for those of us living in Southern California his gibes at American steam heat will be somewhat less than meaningful.

THE BOOK, which deals with the problems of collecting antique English furniture, was meant as an aid for those who felt it important to know the difference between the genuine and the fake and all the stages that exist in between. The tone of the entire volume, which details English furniture from 16th century early oak to the work of Sheraton in the 18th, is made clear in the introduction when the author notes that only disappointment awaits those who read his book with the expectation of "acquiring an accurate and comprehensive knowledge of faking and its detection without reinforcement by way of technical experience and long and keen observation of many examples of English furniture and woodwork."

In addition to considering the usual furniture pieces, the author includes a knowledgeable discussion in Marquetry furniture, lacquer work, needlework and a chapter on English wall mirrors and one on English clocks.

IT IS A good book whose author clearly points out to his reader the need for the expert to know not only the form of the work in question, but how it got to be the way it is, including the technological and sociological factors that gave it its form. This is very important in dealing with any man-made object since authentication is only possible when this understanding is present. With even the most rudimentary knowledge of the history of technology and some understanding of the social conditions current at the time a piece of furniture was produced, it would have been impossible to pass as original some of the fakes that turn up.

As early as 1931 it was obvious to the author that more English "antique" furniture is shipped to America than could have been produced in England during the entire 18th century. After reading this book one has the feeling that one had better stick to buying what he likes if the price is right and don't worry about it's being authentic because chances are it isn't.

Philharmonic Presents Mendelssohn 'Festival'

By DANIEL CARIAGA Music Critic

What could be more appropriate for a Hollywood Bowl "Symphonies Under the Stars" program this fourth week in July than a presentation of the complete "Midsummer Night's Dream" music of Mendelssohn?

And what better companion pieces for the thrice-familiar incidental music than the same composer's "Fingal's Cave" overture and the "Italian" symphony?

Thus it was Thursday that the Bowl hosted a Mendelssohn mini-festival, presided over by conductor William Steinberg and giving the Los Angeles Philharmonic Orchestra a chance to display once again that, under a fine leader, it can play the standard repertory as immaculately as any symphonic ensemble.

NOT THAT Steinberg's readings of Mendelssohn's most often encountered works set any record for charm, subtlety or irresistibility. But he did coax from this orchestra some of its more careful playing, clean ensemble and an admirable thrust in the direction of transparency. For these reminders of how good the Philharmonic can sound, we must be thankful.

What must have disappointed the serious Mendelssohnian besides the fact that, of all the unhackneyed and beautiful music this composer wrote, these old and overfamiliar pieces were the ones chosen, was the lack of exuberance and deep conviction emanating from the podium. Straightforward, directional leadership is a rare and cherishable quality, but it is only one facet of any conductor's art.

Then, to, without a really fresh and exciting approach to the "Midsummer Night's Dream" pieces, the suite fell rather flat on this occasion.

Steinberg had lots of help, from brief appearances by sopranos Marni Nixon and Susan Marsee, a little chorus of women from Roger Wagner's Choral and three professional actors who read a few lines. But without the striking of real sparks on the podium, what might have been a joy was just a chore.

Britons to Adopt Metric System

LONDON (AP)—The government Friday accepted plans for Britain to adopt the metric system of weights and measures by the end of 1975 to conform with the rest of Europe.

YOUR HOROSCOPE
by JEANE DIXON

Forecast for Sunday
Your birthday today: Change and expectancy are the watchwords for the coming year. Holding onto your status is better opportunity than popping out. Today's natives have deep inner-peace, a secret admiration of military or athletic skills.
Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): Spend the day as you can; freedom not become involved in complicated divisions with groups of people. Family talks are tense and prolonged.
Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20): Overlook the temper. Older people tend to cast asperses, particularly where travel is concerned.
Gemini (May 21-June 20): Remember! It takes a least two to start an argument; don't be one of them. Go to church, no matter what you say. Electric appliances must be used carefully. Business deals with friends need brooding.
Cancer (June 21-July 21): The nearer you can stay to home today, the more likely you are to be satisfied. There are unusual hazards about the ponds and in crowded areas. Pay little attention to those who show no feelings.
Leo (July 22-Aug. 22): Your heart is being dramatic today. Just do your heart's pleasure in your own way and then relax. Live and let live is the philosophy.
Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): You may have to bear witness today concerning a suspected matter. Avoid criticism, as your words are apt to be taken in ways you do not intend.
Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Tensions run up storm warnings in an otherwise fall day. Avoid other people's personal problems. While they write, be patient.
Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Hold your regular standing in your church. They quietly settle back. Social activities are unfavorable. This is a day of the time readings and working your hobby.
Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Expect higher expenses. Let go of any desire to venture into new territory. Associates are apt to be increased.
Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Bring your full resources to cope with a pre-digital world today. With many secrets and alleged secrets, things are complex and difficult.
Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Finance. Pitches (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Don't get into is delicate today. Travel is not advised. Pay no attention to talk, but watch actions. Avoid the appearance of smiling neighbors.
Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): Don't get stubborn. Gentle persuasion is your best approach. Your mate and your close associates have something to add. Have the grace to listen.

GARDENING

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

Due to their hardness of growing in the brightest sunshine, standing much more cold and frost conditions than many other kinds of shrubs, thriving coastwise as well as inland, junipers are suitable for many varied landscape uses.

Specific varieties that fit particular landscape needs may be used for ground covers; on burns; slopes; Japanese planting; rock gardens; outdoor planters that are a part of the house wall unit, even a south or west exposure; and as container plants.

A most striking variety that fulfills the need of upright growth yet adds a decidedly interesting Japanese outline is an evergreen, the Juniperus torulosa, Hollywood juniper. It is an exceptionally good container plant at the corner junction of two walls, or in front of the house or business wall. Fortunately, many business establishments are becoming civic-improvement minded by growing some container plants close to the buildings.

ANOTHER more upright plant that serves similar landscape purposes, also in container, is Podocarpus macrophylla, the Yew Podocarpus. This evergreen shrub may be trained by slight pruning to make a tall slender column of narrow deep green leathery yewlike leaves. It grows well in sun, but doesn't tolerate quite the amount of frost as does juniper.

It is somewhat tricky to master the knack of proper watering of outdoor container plants, whether grown in shade or sun. Proper watering is the important factor. Gardener must realize the container should be off the cement floor, or patio floor or ground, and set on bricks. If no bricks on hand, cut an inch-square redwood stake to right lengths to fit the container bottom. Lay them on the floor and set the container on them.

This allows the excess water that drains out of the container to easily flow away and the area to quickly dry.

Container should be slowly watered three or four times, each time the water has drained through from the previous watering. Those three or four waterings constitute one complete unit of watering. Such thorough watering fully (Nuts cost about $3.50 a pound.) A mature nut-bearing tree continues bearing nuts for around half a year and maybe more.

THIS amazing tree is the grafted Macadamia nut tree! It tolerates about the same amount of frost as does a lemon tree. A grafted variety begins bearing nuts about three to five years after planting.

There's an exceptionally interesting tree that grows happily along the coast, even close to the shoreline. We read of such a tree whose roots on the ocean side of the beach grew under the sand and waves barely washed up to them. This means it tolerates alkali salt condition. The tree is "Pahutakawa," so named by the New Zealanders; the common name is New Zealand Christmas tree, botanical name Metrosideros, iron tree of the myrtle family.

Joe Littlefield recommends that you:

- Try junipers to solve a variety of landscaping problems.
- Elevate outdoor container plants slightly, for watering purposes.
- Plant a grafted Macadamia nut tree.
- Prepare soil for all trees to be set out.

soaks the plant root ball and the soil, also rinses away any possible accumulation of alkali that may have slowly built up in the soil.

A NURSERYMAN had a good idea for increasing the sale of trees, but more important for landscape beauty and shade. The sign on his nursery wall stated, "A house without a tree just isn't fit for a dog!" Sometimes, home gardeners pick out the wrong tree for their gardens, too.

Here's a tree one can't make a mistake about. It is a grafted subtropical tree that grows in a lawn or open soil area to about 25 feet and provides desirable landscape effect and shade. The branches are covered with leaves in whorls of three or four, oblongish around 10 inches long and slightly spiny-toothed, reminding one of spiny holly foliage.

Branches may be cut for foliage decoration indoors and stay fresh for a week or longer. The nearly white blossoms add decoration, eventually followed by clusters of nourishing nuts.

Q. I have a peppermint-stick camellia that every year forms buds, but they turn brown and drop off. It is on the northwest corner of the house and has two other camellias planted near it that bloom profusely. All get the same feeding, watering, etc. Should I move it to a sunnier location? H. Dorling.

A. Occasionally, such variety possibly may bloom some, if moved to a sunnier location. But it is a known fact this variety camellia is unhappy in S. California because it loves colder weather. We've been told they bloom well in Northern California. Personally, I'd either dig it up and throw it away (unless you want to keep it and use the foliage for indoor decoration) or else next winter graft a good dependable blooming variety to it.

Q. My 2-year-old tomato tree hasn't had any fruit yet, but it has been moved twice. It is a beautiful plant. Please tell me how to take care of it, like what kind of spray or powder to use on it. Mrs. E. R. Buys.

A. Your moving it twice has set it back from developing blossoms, then fruiting. A transplanted plant has to develop new roots from the ends of the cut roots, and when they have reached maturity your plant should perform well. Six weeks or so after transplanting, feed it a balanced plant food such as a 6-10-4 formulation. Spray or dust with an insecticide or fungicide if pests or fungus are present.

Q. What causes a rose bush that bloomed beautifully for three years to suddenly produce strawberrylike blossoms? I think it is a hybrid. Mrs. Frank Gardner.

A. I think it is rose sucker flowers! If those flowers are small and red color in clusters, they are suckers! (If not, please mail me some and I'll check into it further.) Observe the bud union area (knobby section where branches grow out from); it should be at least level with the soil level, better slightly above the ground. If the branches of the strawberrylike blossoms grow out below the bud union area from the rose trunk, or grow up through the soil beside the rose trunk it means no-good sucker growths. They should be rooted away from the plant. You see, the rose bush trunk and the roots are a wild type of rose which provides more vigorous growth to the good variety rose, that was budded to the wild rose root stock.

Q. Are the ashes from barbecue bricks beneficial to the garden soil? A. No!!

Why is TERR-O-VITE TODAY'S BIG VALUE ?
It's the answer to modern gardening the complete fertilizer PLUS
TERR-O-VITE supplies the important nutrients all plants must have to thrive.
TERR-O-VITE contains elements that enter into the manufacture of vital root-forming enzymes and also reduces transplanting shock.
TERR-O-VITE's heavy concentration of Chelating Agents plus Chelated Iron, Zinc and Manganese help to prevent and cure Chlorosis (yellow foliage) induced by high concentrations of alkali in soil or water.
TERR-O-VITE's chemical reactions in the soil break down Adobe, Caliche, Hardpan and Alkali soils so they can be broken with a trowel instead of a tractor.
TERR-O-VITE's Water-Water principle saves water and fertilizer by reducing runoff.

WATER WAGON SPRAYS HARBOR AREA CONSTRUCTION SITE
1953 GI-Model Truck's Driver Says His Job Raises Real Thirst

Story and Photos
By DICK EMERY

For 39 years Nolan Barnes has been on the wagon.

"The water wagon," Barnes emphasized at the harbor construction job Friday afternoon while the hot sun beat down.

The 58-year-old driver said he got started in Yuma back in '29 when he arrived from Arkansas looking for work.

"Started driving a dump truck but switched over to a water wagon," Barnes said. "Plenty hot and dry in Yuma."

"But Needles is worse."

"In Needles, you ride along on the old water wagon and listen to the nice cool water sloshing inside the wagon's tank — the air is 120 degrees and you haven't a drop to drink — and your Adam's apple bobs up and down fit to choke you."

"I came down to this job at the harbor from one at Saugus."

Barnes turned off the pump which had filled the 2,500-gallon tank of his 1953 GI-model water wagon, and clambered into the driver's seat.

Away the truck flounced to the field near Berth 128, between Wilmington and San Pedro where all kinds of big yellow earth-moving machines are working.

"Three water wagons," Barnes said. "Those big things with pegs on the rollers are called sheep's-foot. The big scraper is a blade. The big one that hauls dirt we call a can."

"But at Saugus, now, that was a great job! The water was deep-well water, cold and sweet!"

"Every time I filled the wagon — that's 2,500 gallons, 24 times an eight-hour shift — I'd take a long, cool drink of that fine water."

"But on this harbor job, a man on the water wagon's got a special thirst problem."

"You drive over the ruts and hear the water sloshing and dripping, and the hot wind blows dust in your face, and your throat sort of swells."

"This water we're hauling is good enough for compacting loose earth — you gotta keep a sharp eye on the dirt, get it not too wet, not too dry."

"Reason you can't drink this water we're using," Barnes said, "they pump it right out of the harbor. It's ocean water, full of salt and stinking of mud."

"Us guys on the wagon — three of us working this job — we drink warm, rubber-tasting water from an old garden hose at the guard station."

Downey Wins Round on 'Land of the Free'

An attempt to force the Downey Unified School District to use the controversial "Land of the Free" textbook in eighth-grade classes was rejected Friday in Los Angeles Superior Court.

Judge Robert S. Thompson ruled it would be improper "at this time" to grant a preliminary injunction sought by the state Board of Education.

He noted the Downey district has filed suit against the State of California, challenging an attorney general's ruling that the

$1,571,671 Suits Cite Airport Noise

Fifty-six claims seeking $1,571,671 in damages Friday were filed in objection to the operation of the Orange County Airport.

The claims against the county cite unbearable noise, noxious fumes and disagreeable fuel fallout from jet airplanes departing the airport.

The new bids for damages raised to $5,427,051 the demands filed in Santa Ana against the airport.

A goal of $10 million in damage claims by Sept. 1 has been set by backers of the mass objection campaign.

Man Guilty in Campus Disorder

A 28-year-old California State College at Long Beach graduate student — arrested after taking pictures from a eucalyptus tree of a May 29 demonstration at the college — Friday was found guilty of disturbing the peace.

Robert Harrington, of 3337 E. 15th St., who told police he was shooting pictures from the tree for a journalism class, was one of 43 students taken into custody.

Harrington was also charged with failure to disperse, but that charge was dropped.

Police said the biology student used "abusive language" during the demonstration.

His attorney, Phil Poppler, said Harrington used an obscene word when he shouted an answer to someone in the crowd who asked him if he was a police officer.

Commissioner Loyd Lavender of the Long Beach Municipal Court heard the case. Harrington will be formally sentenced Aug. 29.

Twenty-two more of the 43 students arrested are scheduled for trial Aug. 8.

La Palma Sets Budget Hearing

A public hearing on La Palma's $1-million budget for fiscal year 1968-69 will be held 7:30 p.m. Monday in the John F. Kennedy High School multipurpose room.

The budget, which includes more than $100,000 for water system improvements to the city's industrial tract, is $184,000 higher than the present one, but is based on continuation of the current tax rate of 98 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

Home Burglar Gets 6 Months to 15 Years

Larry Allen Jenkins, 28, of Los Angeles, pleaded guilty to second-degree burglary Friday and was sentenced to state prison for six months to 15 years.

Superior Court Judge Raymond Choate sentenced Jenkins after he pleaded guilty to an April 23 burglary at the home of Robert Hartley, 5418 Killdeer Ave.

Jenkins was arrested after investigators traced a stolen television set to him.

State Fights New Trial for Kirschke

The state attorney general's office Friday opposed a new trial for convicted Long Beach slayer Jack Kirschke, charging the former deputy district attorney "literally executed" his wife and her lover.

A 70-page legal brief opposing a new trial was filed with Superior Court Judge Kathleen Parker, who presided over the trial of 13 weeks that resulted in Kirschke's conviction.

Kirschke's new defense lawyer, George T. Davis, filed a motion and supporting brief July 5 seeking a new trial for the former prosecutor.

Kirschke, 46, was convicted in December of the murder of his wife, Elaine Terry Kirschke, 43, and Orville William Drankhan, 41, in the bedroom of the Kirschkes' Naples home on April 8, 1967.

Both victims had been shot once in the head.

"The evidence is ample that they were literally executed by Jack Kirschke from a position of concealment—lying in wait," the brief, prepared by Asst. Atty. Gen. Albert W. Harris and Dep. Atty. Gen. Robert Samolani, Kirschke's prosecutors, pointed out.

Davis claimed Kirschke should be granted a new trial on several grounds—including new evidence, admission of hearsay state-

School Narcotics Probe Yields Zero

By BARBARA KNESIS

A special police probe uncovered no evidence of glue-sniffing or pill-popping at McGaugh Intermediate School in Seal Beach, School Supt. Marx Dressler said Friday.

Dressler asked for the investigation after a young father told the city council earlier this month that students were popping pills in restrooms and sniffing glue on lunch breaks.

The father said the information came from his 13-year old twin daughters.

The superintendent said police found evidence of one incident. A girl involved was vindicated, he said.

Meanwhile, Police Chief Lee Case took exception to the charges.

He said police and the city were put in a position of "having to live down and straighten out something that has been exaggerated and distorted beyond recognition."

The chief called the student body above average and pointed out that teachers, in a routine police information program, have been trained to spot signs of narcotics use.

He added that he did not blame people for becoming alarmed, admitting narcotics use is a problem in the city's beach area "as it is in every other city in Southern California."

"We need the help of such citizens as appeared before our city council, but the rumors and facts must be thoroughly investigated and broken down and used in a united and constructive effort on the part of all citizens, teachers, politicians, law enforcement officers," Chief Case said.

Educator A.G. Coons Dies at 67

Dr. Arthur G. Coons, president of the Coordinating Council for Higher Education and long a leader in state education, died Friday of a heart attack in his Newport Beach home.

The 67-year-old educator chaired the committee which drew up the state master plan survey of higher education.

Dr. Coons, who served as president of Occidental College from 1946 to 1965, was economic adviser to the reparations mission to Japan in 1945.

He was president of the Association of American Colleges in 1956 and served on the President's committee on education beyond the high school in 1956-57.

He was reelected president of the state higher education council last year.

The council, created in 1960, coordinates operations of the junior colleges, state colleges and University of California.

He was the author of several books, pamphlets and reviews of Asian government financial affairs.

Dr. Coons died in his home, 240 Via Genoa. He is survived by his wife, Edna. Services are pending at Baltz Mortuary, in Corona del Mar.

3 Deny Chicken-Shop Slaying; Trial Oct. 15

By BOB SANDERS
Staff Writer

Three young men denied Friday they killed a North Long Beach chicken-shop manager in an "almost perfect" slaying.

Trial for the trio was set by Superior Court Judge Raymond Choate for Oct. 15. He set the same date for hearing on a motion to suppress portions of the prosecution's evidence.

The defendants include two Lakewood men — James Robert Davis, 20, of 5848 Hayter St., and Richard Lloyd Terflinger, 21, of 5227 Lakewood Blvd. — and a transient, Dennis Lee Hanson, 23.

They are charged with shooting to death Kenneth Voorhees, 28, of 4398 Levee Drive, Lakewood, while he was alone in the Kentucky Fried Chicken shop at 3430 E. Artesia Blvd., the night of June 1.

The slaying was termed "almost perfect" because police first thought Voorhees had been electrocuted — his body was lying near an open fuse box and he had what appeared to be electrical burns on his arm.

However, an autopsy revealed a bullet wound in the left shoulder, and a .38-caliber slug was removed from his heart.

Also, the owner of the shop reported that two canvas bags, containing $1,200, were missing from the establishment.

The suspects were arrested June 10 after police received information linking them to the case.

Pico Rivera Marine Dies in Viet Action

A Pico Rivera Marine Corps sergeant, Jesus E. Chaves Jr., has been killed in Vietnam action, the Defense Department reported Friday. His parents reside at 7436 Rosemead Blvd.

Bar Burglarized

A thief entered the Ro-Tan Bar, 39 Long Beach Blvd., and made off with $200 in cash and liquor, police reported Friday.

4 L.B. INSTITUTIONS DOING U.S. RESEARCH

Two colleges and two hospitals in the Long Beach area are among a group of California hospitals and colleges taking part in a federal research project aimed at meeting the growing need for medical and dental technicians.

The Bureau of Research of the U.S. Office of Education will provide $1.6 million for support of the project under the Vocational Education Act of 1963.

The project is to develop two-year training programs in community colleges for students in health career fields.

Among institutions taking part are Long Beach Veterans Administration Hospital, Harbor General Hospital, California State College, Long Beach, and Long Beach City College.

SPEAKS TO 100 IN L.B. Antiwar Leader Says U.S. Has Already Lost in Viet

By WALT MURRAY
Staff Writer

"The U.S. has already lost the war," the chairman of the National Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam said Friday in Long Beach.

"The reason American troops are fighting in Vietnamese cities is that the rest of Vietnam belongs to the National Liberation Front," said Dave Dellinger, who organized the antiwar march on the Pentagon last October. He spoke to 100 persons at a Long Beach Citizens for Peace meeting in the First Congregational Church.

Movement Must Increase Pressure

"Even though it's not too likely the U.S. will escalate the war, there'll be no progress made in the Paris talks unless the peace movement increases its pressure," Dellinger said.

"So far the Paris talks have been used by the U.S. government as a sedative for American public opinion."

"The Vietnamese in Paris believe that nothing is going on at the talks," he said.

"They have made it clear for years that serious talks can't begin until the U.S. stops bombing North Vietnam, and that the fighting won't stop until Americans leave Vietnamese soil."

"IT'S AN ILLUSION to think peace will come until America deals with those two points," he said.

Dellinger said the Vietnamese have made a serious proposition that sounds like a joke to most Americans — and was taken by American negotiator Averill Harriman as an insult.

"They tell us that if we will stop bombing their cities, they will continue not to bomb our cities," he said. "Likewise if we will withdraw our soldiers from their soil, they will continue not to send soldiers to our soil."

He said the North Vietnamese now view their position as regards the U.S. the same as American colonists viewed their position as regarded England in 1776.

Dellinger expressed hope the peace movement wouldn't be lulled into false hopes by the "negotiations."

"There are more American troops fighting in Vietnam now than there were on April Fool's Eve, when Lyndon Johnson announced he would cut back the bombing and not seek the presidency," Dellinger said.

He said the bombing has actually increased in tonnage and number of raids, although it has decreased in geographical area.

APOLLO EXEC BACK FROM UPPSALA SAYS:

Young People Played Unsung Role at World Council Meet

By LES RODNEY

The impact of young people and their thinking was an electrifying development at the World Council of Churches assembly in Sweden, reports an aerospace executive who was one of 15 official United Presbyterian delegates from this country.

Edward B. Lindaman, manager of configuration management of the Apollo program for North American Rockwell's Space Division in Downey, and a church leader, in an interview this week put the youth phenomenon high on his list of significant events at the historic 17-day meeting in Uppsala.

Among other important developments he listed were:

—A new "super awareness" of the economic gap between the developed and the undeveloped nations, and what the Christian response to this must be.

—A "new and hopeful" blend of evangelism with social action, with neither being downgraded. "The gospel was never outside the considerations, nor was there abstract piety without awareness of the world. It was a beautiful blending."

—Meaningful involvement of more open Christian relationship between the Protestant and Orthodox communions who make up the World Council and the Roman Catholics, who were represented by active observers.

—The recognition that "change is of God" and is not to be feared. "You know how many people have a static view of God. The section on worship reported that some of the symbols don't speak to us any more, for example. What emerged was the realization that there will be change in the world, and not to fear it, to accept it as part of God's own creation."

But for anyone accustomed to the usual church deliberations by those of middle age and up, the unexpected role of the world's young people had to be special.

"It hit me the second day, and I wrote home to my daughter predicting that the participation by youth would be the assembly's most unique feature," Lindaman said.

"They were just everywhere you turned, making their feelings known. They were from all over, not only the West — oh, from India, Ghana, Iceland, New Zealand, Korea, Japan, South Africa — they weren't delegates, they were called participants, which means they were allowed in all meetings and groups, but with no votes." At least another hundred young people acted as stewards. "Kids who came at their own expense to help, distributing mail, monitoring doors, helping with a thousand and one details."

The participants, mostly in their upper teens and early 20s, indeed "participated" right down the line into the smallest subcommittee meetings.

"They expressed themselves," the graying, crew-cut space executive emphasized. "They'd listen to something and say 'I think you're making a mistake' and tell why."

The young people published a paper every other day, with commentary on developments, and distributed it to all delegates. It was the assembly's only "newspaper."

All of this youth-infused excitement was inconceivable at the last WCC assembly seven years ago, Lindaman reflected. "It resulted in a new awareness of the average age level of the voting delegates, 51.7. This may never happen again."

The tone and thrust of the young participants, he said, was predominately one of impatience. It was set on the first day when one of them said that young people "could no longer honor the trappings of grandeur."

"THEY WERE understanding, but impatient," Lindaman amplified. The prodding, he said, was not of a negative, capricious variety. "We needed this prodding, and it did prod the assembly."

As a sidelight, every night the young peoples' central clubhouse, "Youth Club '68" would invite one of the assembly's major speakers to sit in with them.

"He'd sit behind a table and they'd pepper him with sharp questions. It was a real opportunity for exchange. One session I was at went on into the early hours," Lindaman related.

This sort of intimate give and take was characteristic of the assembly, he said. The entire gathering assembly was organized for working purposes into six major sections, which in turn broke down into given problems, weighed by groups of 50 or less.

"That's when you really start getting some interaction," Lindaman said. "Ultimately all questions came down into small groupings for discussion. This was also true of the committees — on laity, evangelism, technology, etc. There was the opportunity to really sit around and exchange. We had translators for simultaneous translation and we arranged chairs and tables so we could all see each other."

Reflecting the nature of such sessions, the man from Downey became close friends with the bishop of the Church of India, Ceylon and Burma.

It was, he commented in an aside, the kind of breakdown into small, intimate groupings which might well be emulated by many American universities. "You learn through dialogue, not through lectures."

THE PRESS, he pointed out, was free to sit in on any of the sessions, right down to the smallest subcommittees. "That says something about the assembly. There were no secrets, nothing was closed."

No dominant church or nation was apparent at Uppsala, Lindaman noted. "If anything, the developing countries were in the forefront because of their terrible needs. Here, to me, was one of the more significant things to come out of the assembly, a super awareness of the economic gap between developed and developing nations. Hardly 30 minutes went by without this being discussed, it seemed.

"We talk about the generation gap here, and it is a gap, I know, I work on it. But there is this other giant gap. People feel distant from it, ask what can I do? But Christians can't feel that way. I would say a Christian shouldn't vote for a politician who is against foreign aid, to be specific."

"Barbara Ward," he continued, "who made some very impressive contributions at the assembly, used an analogy with the 16th Century in England, when there was a tremendous gap between the rich and the poor, who lived in utter misery. We read our history today and say how terrible it was of them, riding in their gilded carriages and ignoring the plight of the poverty stricken. But this is now true between nations."

America, he said with a touch of sadness, "is misunderstood because it is so affluent and spends so much on armaments. You have to look at it from their vantage point — in their country people are going hungry, yet the richest country in the world spends billions on arms. They may not understand all the factors involved, of course, but that's how we look to them."

'Change Is of God'

told, primarily want not handouts but technological aid, the tools with which to help themselves.

FROM THE West, a "can do" feeling emerged, based on technological possibilities. Both Barbara Ward and American anthropologist Margaret Mead, another guest who impressed the world churchmen, felt that just as the incredible 16th Century gap in England was overcome, so can the Western world and its new miracles of technology overcome this one between nations. (However, they were speaking of technological possibilities, and didn't go into the political factors involved.)

One possibly hopeful factor pointed to by Lindaman, who was assigned to the questions of hunger, population and technology within the overall topic "World Economic and Social Development," was what he termed "some awakening to planetary stewardship."

He explained the term this way: "We recognize that the entire earth is finite and has limited resources in minerals, air, food, etc. Therefore we must take an ecological view, recognizing the interdependence of these things."

New Jersey Will Host Serra Mass at Pier E

Long Beach's battleship USS New Jersey will host the Serra International Club of Long Beach at a 10:15 a.m. Sunday Mass aboard ship.

Officiating will be the ship's Catholic chaplain, Lt. Cmdr. John P. Byrnes. The ship will be moored at Pier E, adjacent to the Queen Mary.

Serra Club is an international organization of Catholic professional and businessmen functioning to foster priestly vocations.

The Long Beach club, under President James O. Fitzpatrick, represent several Long Beach parishes. They will attend the Mass as guests of the "Chapel By the Sea" program initiated by Rear Adm. Thomas J. Rudden Jr., commander, Cruiser-Destroyer Group, Long Beach.

Adm. Rudden's program has these aspects: To encourage civilian parishes to send groups of their parishioners to attend divine services on board ships of Cruiser-Destroyer Group, Long Beach, and to form voluntary church parties of servicemen to attend divine services in civilian parishes. The basic purpose is to foster a closer rapport between the Navy personnel and the local civilian community.

Since its beginning on Sunday, May 19, when 40 members from the Holy Family Catholic Church in Wilmington attended services aboard the destroyer USS Fechteler, church groups from the Long Beach area have been attending shipboard services every Sunday.

"By participating in divine services with the men of the United States Navy, we hope (our civilian guests) will experience a sense of togetherness and solidarity in worshipping Almighty God," Adm. Rudden said.

After the Mass, the Serra Club will be served refreshments and will be given a tour of the Navy's only active battleship. New Jersey is commanded by Capt. J. Edward Snyder Jr.

From Woman's Viewpoint...

Mrs. Edward Lindaman, who accompanied her delegate husband to the World Council of Churches assembly in Uppsala, paid high tribute to the hospitality of host country Sweden in a chat at the Lindamans' Fullerton home this week.

"We were treated royally," she says, "the women of Uppsala and surrounding communities arranged tours, brunches, visits to homes. It was all set up beautifully, with free bus service for us always available."

"Stockholm hosted us one Sunday. There were boat trips, tours, visits to churches, lakes, a fabulous luncheon at City Hall... oh yes, of course, smorgasbord..."

"We were all treated with the greatest warmth and hospitality without regard to where we came from, our background, race, whatever... There was the greatest respect."

The role of women at the assemblage was far from a minor one, Mrs. Lindaman reported. "There was a woman spokesman from the Philippines whose marvelous spirit came through to everyone, a woman judge from Africa who was just tremendous. They focused on every area of life. And women like Margaret Mead, Barbara Ward..."

It was a "shock" to hear first hand for the first time views of America by people of other countries which were sometimes harsh in judgment, she said.

"But by the same token, there would usually be someone else from the same country to say something good. I felt there was a balance."

"The wonder of so many different people from all corners of the earth, making the attempt to get at all the things that divide us," she said. "It was frustrating in a way to realize this. The wonderful part of it was that they could communicate and come up with anything at all. If all our people could somehow meet some of these other people of the world..."

WORLD MEET

"You see," he went on, "for the first time in history man is able, and is called upon, to exercise stewardship within the whole of God's creation. Back a way in history, you couldn't have responsibility for others, you didn't even know what's out there."

"Now we know, due to modern science. Because we know, we have a responsibility as Christians, we cannot sit back. There must be a huge effort on the part of the churches in America to inform the membership of our total responsibility to the rest of the world. We must begin this."

He reflected, "We'd better. It's the only way the world is going to make it!"

There was at Uppsala, he added the obvious desire to work on world problems not only with World Council and non-World Council churches, but with secular society and secular ideologies. "We know we have to," the former national president of Presbyterian Men said simply.

INCIDENTALLY, and interestingly, Lindaman found widespread support for his own forcefully held view as space scientist-Christian leader that space exploration, far from being in contradiction with religion, holds a definite relationship to it, and is bound to advance and confirm faith.

"Barbara Ward feels anything like that which raises the level of imagination is essential to mankind," the Apollo executive said. As to what, basically, "came out" of the assembly, most representative church conclaves in world history...

Amazingly, considering the cumbersome nature of such an assembly, and the wildly disparate cultural, ecclesiastical and psychological backgrounds represented, some sharply defined statements emerged on most of the major issues facing Christianity, like the statements or not.

Were the impatient young participants satisfied?

"Partly satisfied," Lindaman replied. "Not completely, but partly. They are impatient for action. But the World Council is not an action group, organized to change things."

"The only thing that can come out of" such an assembly is statements. Nothing else CAN come out of it."

"To me," he shrugged, "there is nothing wrong with statements. The Declaration of Independence is just a statement, and look what developed out of it!"

Based on these statements, the scientist suggested, "there are items for consideration now available to member churches around the world for whatever action they want to take." Plus, he said, the not-to-be-overlooked factor of the impact on world opinion of the Council's conclusions. This, after all, is the voice of the representatives of a great bulk of world Christianity, with more than 253 member denominations in 90 countries and territories on six continents.

YET WHEN the assembly ends and the mimeograph machines stop whirring, how much of this teeming content, the result of pooled experience, expertise and analysis, motivated by the message of the Gospel, catalyzed by the cry of the concerned, non-dropout young, how much of the sense of urgency, actually reaches the general population?

"Now," says Lindaman, "the problem is one of education: How do you convey these things, expose others to the questions outside of the usual limited day to day view, like the big fact that part of our concern has to be the whole world. At best, it will be some time before the essence of such an assembly comes through and is felt."

"I'm back, sitting here today... I'm one of the rich people in 16th Century England in my carriage looking out at the poor peasants..."

Airlift 5 Tons Aid to Biafra

Five tons of Church World Service-donated food and medical supplies are on their way to 13 million starving Biafrans penned inside blockaded Eastern Nigeria.

Other shipments of CROP split beans (276,000 pounds) and additional medical and hospital materials (1,213 pounds) sailed for Lagos, Nigeria last week.

CWS contributions to Biafra and Nigeria refugees now total approximately a quarter of a million dollars. CWS has previously sent several hundred thousand dollars worth of food and medicines to refugees within the warring nations. The five tons of food and medicine were flown to Biafra aboard a World Council of Churches charter flight.

A shipment of 500 tons of stockfish (dried fish) donated by the Norwegian churches was recently delivered to Fernando Po island and is being shuttled into Biafra for distribution.

Says Lustier Hymns Needed

LONDON (AP) — The church needs to "get with it" in modernizing its music, says England's Archbishop of York, Donald Coggan.

Saying there ought to be some lusty new hymns for the church, he commented, "Why should we make lusty young men and women refer to themselves as 'frail and trembling ships,' or sing hymns which make them tell the Almighty that they desire 'to flee this world of tears and arrive on heaven's doorstep forthwith?'"

PALO VERDE HOSTS LEADER

Roland K. Huff, Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ) executive who directs the church's annual national "Week of Compassion," will be guest speaker Sunday, 10 a.m., in Palo Verde Avenue Christian Church, 2501 Palo Verde Ave. He is here with other Disciple leaders who meet Monday at Chapman College in Orange in a "council of agencies." Mr. Huff is also active with the Division of Overseas Ministries and Church World Service of the National Council of Churches.

Expect 100,000 at Mormons' Annual Pageant

America's most elaborate religious theatrical, the annual Hill Cumorah Pageant of the Mormon Church, will draw huge crowds to Palmyra, N.Y. next week.

Upwards of 100,000 persons are expected to attend the outdoor pageant, repeated nightly from Monday through Aug. 3, which dramatizes the Mormon belief that Jesus Christ after his death and resurrection came to North America to visit descendants of a lost tribe of Israelites who had founded a civilization on this continent about 600 B.C.

The pageant is performed by a volunteer Mormon cast of 450 men, women, boys and girls. There is no admission charge, no parking fee, no hawking of programs or souvenirs — in short, no commercialism.

SONG GROUPS AT NEW HOPE

New Hope Baptist Church's Male Chorus will host "An Evening of Gospel in Song" presentation Sunday, 7:30 p.m. in the church, 921 E. 10th St. Featured groups include The Jubilaires of Torrance, The Gospelaires of Los Angeles, the Henderson Singers of Long Beach and the Smith Singers of Long Beach.

WE'RE NOT CONSERVATIVE Christian Science Feels at Home in New Thinking

By GEORGE CORNELL

BOSTON (AP) — Christian Science, often considered stiffly set in its religious views, actually feels right at home today amid the widespread ferment going on in the real of faith.

"It's very beneficial," says David E. Sleeper, manager of the church's committee on publications. "The general public thinks of us as a conservative church, but we've always considered ourselves progressive in Christian thought."

Another official, Robert Peel, editorial consultant to the publications committee, adds: "Very definitely we're on the new frontier of radical Christianity."

Indeed, in many respects, concepts of Christian Science parallel much of the current theological upheaval, questioning anthropomorphic images of God, the hereafter and the trinity, and stressing the divine presence in the everyday life of the world.

"Perhaps most of significant is the breakdown of the ancient artificial line between the so-called sacred and the secular," says Allison W. Phinney Jr., the publication committee's editorial supervisor.

INCREASING numbers of religious thinkers, he adds, reject the past scholastic definitions of God as a detached being, and see "the divine as a dimension of reality which is always present" as a renewing force in human existence.

And this is a basic conviction of Christian Science, the revamped interpretation of Christianity introduced 102 years ago by a powerful influential Massachusetts woman, Mary Baker Eddy, who wrote: "The time for thinkers has come. Truth, independent of doctrines and time-honored systems, knocked at the portal of humanity."

She intended at first only to work through existing churches, but opposition led followers to found a separate denomination in 1879.

Today, Christian Science is a relatively small, but worldwide faith, with more than 3,300 branches or local churches, radiating out from its "Mother Church" in Boston and its 15-acre administrative center, now in the midst of a $15-million reconstruction program.

Although membership statistics are not made public, the total has been estimated at close to 500,000. There are no ordained clergy, but 8,000 full-time "practitioners" serve as counselors and teachers.

"This rethinking is the sort of thing that's desperately needed," Peel said. "As mankind progresses and intelligence increases, we have to get beyond the primitive images of God as an old gentleman in the sky, and recognize him in the depth of our experiences, as a reality giving basic direction to our existence."

"THROUGH THE divine love of our midst," said Phinney, "we see the total transformation of our present experience as being possible." This can come, he said, through the "peculiar power" of Christianity to heal and free men from false obsessions which cripple him.

"This healing dynamism is something that Christianity generally has lost sight of, but it's now being given some recognition," he added. "I think it's going to be widely restored in the traditional churches."

It conceives of God as "Infinite God," and of all authentic reality as good and perfect, a creation of divine love. Man is considered a part of this universal being, whose troubles derive from a distorted view of reality. Man's failings — his hatred, injustice, disease, even death and matter itself — are considered a result of his flawed outlook, and in a deeply metaphysical sense, an unreal illusion, to be overcome by a sharpened awareness of his spiritual nature.

Christian Scientists consider the Bible an indispensable guide to life, and their regular Sunday services consist of readings from it and from Mary Baker Eddy's "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures."

Although Jesus is acknowledged as the Son of God, he is not considered God, but rather as the incarnation of the nature and character of God, shown forth in a radical, transforming way in human life. He's called the "Way-show-er."

Belief in His virgin birth, crucifixion, resurrection and ascension are key elements of Christian Science, but it does not accept the traditional view of the trinity as three persons of one nature.

"THIS IS a pretty mystical formula, in rational terms," Peel said, noting that it also has come under criticism in other theological circles.

Rather than describing God as "Father, Son and Holy Spirit," he said Christian Scientists would use other terminology, such as Eternal Mind, Eternal Spirit, Divine Love, all expressing the unitary truth of divine reality, encompassing all authentic life.

"We're broad enough to be open-minded," Allison said.

"We welcome the stirring and renewal which are going on," Sleeper says. "The stereotypes of God, of man, of the universe simply aren't standing up in the face of the onward march of the natural sciences."

"I believe we're witnessing the commencement of what will be a resurgence of a dynamic, believable, provable Christianity, a Christianity which must become more and more aware of the spiritual forces in God's universe."

FROM THE PULPIT

Thrones are for war. When Moses and Pharaoh met, it was really two thrones at war. Since the usurper prince brought about the fall of man, two thrones have been at war.

Pseudo-religious leaders and Christians today try to sell compromise with error and evil as spirituality under the guise of a false basis for peace. Unity as we had best remember that there is a great warfare and "We wrestle against... spiritual wickedness in high places."

Kings are supposed to reign. They have dominion. But they shall not reign until the enemy is defeated. Every Christian is called to serve, and every believer is a soldier. "Am I a soldier of the Cross, A follower of the Lamb, And shall I fear to own His cause, Or blush to speak His name?"

Calvary is for believers. There is too much of stale in the proclamation of the Gospel of Christ for us to be turned aside from this important task. If the Gospel is precious to you, you will feel at home at Calvary!

A New Directory, an Old Question

A HAND to Mottell's Mortuary for their 1968 directory of churches and synagogues in the Long Beach area, compiled with the assistance of the local Council of Churches. The directory, which includes all churches, council members or no, has again broadened its scope and this is the most useful issue yet. It now includes Roman Catholic churches, 16 of them, Christian Science churches, Mormon stakes, plus all chaplains at hospitals and colleges, the Naval Station, the YMCA, plus small chapels, missions and groupings. Even our good neighbor, the YWCA, is in this attractive directory, which has by our count 287 entries.

WHAT RELIGIOUS leader said "The deepest theme in history has been posed by the conflict between faith and unfaith." Wasn't exactly a religious leader. It was Goethe.

JEHOVAH'S WITNESS supervising minister in Long Beach, James Boyd, has been assigned to handle the cleaning department at the "Good News for All Nations" district assembly in The Forum Aug. 8-11. With 15,000 delegates expected from many states, Boyd will direct 200 volunteer ministers who will see that the Forum seats are clean and the parking lots cared for, man trucks for disposal of garbage from the cafeteria and refreshment stands. "Cleanliness is next to Godliness," he reminds, "and Witnesses the world over are trained to demonstrate that daily habits should manifest our clean living and speaking both within and outside of the family circle."

LATEST MURMUR of denominational merger comes from the Church of the Brethren annual convention with news of a study guide prepared jointly with the American Baptist Convention on "Principles for a Possible Plan of Union."

Brothers were originally called German Baptists. The group is represented in Long Beach by First Church on Magnolia Street and is not to be confused with the smaller and more conservative National Fellowship of Brethren Churches, a splittoff, which, however, is much larger in this area. How's that for confusing you?

Just as a guess, this one won't move quickly toward actual union. The ABC, as their "Crusader" reflects, is in the midst of quite a free-swinging debate on attitudes toward ecumenism, racial questions and the Vietnam war. (Wide open, candid and quite interesting, in the best Baptist traditions.) The Church of the Brethren, standing very consistently on its pacifist history, has evolved into a more "liberal" stance, especially on Vietnam.

However, were Vietnam and the pressing questions of war and peace to subside, there is much in common theologically, such as emphasis on no creed but the New Testament, temperance and personal outlook. Neither group has joined COCU, the attempt at a union of most Protestants.

ONE OF THE most forthright calls for church integration came from the conservative Church of God, headquartered in Anderson, Ind., during its 79th international convention.

A resolution for total integration in church life declared "The urgency for action is growing in society and the need for the church to begin with its own fellowship to make corrections is imperative."

While saying that many congregations in the U.S. and Canada already include black families, it called for immediate employment of open door policies everywhere, and for state assemblies to merge where white and black organizations exist. It urged the state groups "to bring about full and fair representation of Negro persons according to abilities in the offices and boards and committees of state organizations."

Putting its votes where its resolutions were, the convention named the first Negro to hold a top post in the executive council, Rev. Marcus Morgan of Chicago, new vice chairman.

There are three Churches of God in Long Beach, Cherry Avenue, College Park and Willow Street. The denomination also runs Arlington College.

"CAN I BE a Christian without joining a church or attending worship?" Here is the answer to that old question given in this week's publication of Belmont Heights Methodist Church: "Yes, it is possible. It is something like being:

"A scientist who does not share his findings. A bee without a hive. A student who will not go to school. A soldier who will not join an army. A citizen who does not pay taxes or vote. A salesman without a customer. An explorer with no base camp. A seaman on a ship without a crew. A businessman on a deserted island. An author without readers. A tuba player without an orchestra. A parent without a family. A football player without a team. A politician who is a hermit."

The church, it concludes, is "not looking for patrons but for partners." — LES RODNEY

MORE 'PERSON CENTERED'

Church Sex Ed. Called Improved

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Major Protestant denominations in recent years have greatly improved their programs of sex education.

They are now taking a "person-centered" approach which emphasizes positive human values. It is far more meaningful to young people than the "negative and judgmental" teaching of the past.

That is the finding of Dr. John H. Phillips of Duke University, who has just completed a six-month study of the sex education programs of eight Protestant denominations.

The denominations are: the Episcopal Church; the Lutheran Church in America; the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod; the United Methodist Church; the Southern Presbyterian Church; the Southern Baptist Convention; the United Church of Christ; and the United Presbyterian Church. Together they have about 30 million members.

Phillips found that Protestant children no longer are given the impression that sex is inherently sinful or "dirty." Instead, sex is presented as "a God-given way of relating to people."

While affirming the goodness of sex, when used as God intended, Protestant churches point out that abuse of the sexual relationship can have destructive consequences for the persons involved.

All of the denominations make a strong case for premarital chastity, not as an arbitrary rule that must be obeyed but as a way of showing that love and respect.

pect for other human persons which is the basis of all Christian ethics.

Episcopal youth, for example, are taught that: "When one seeks to use another person to gratify his desires, he is using that person as a thing. This violates personhood."

Phillips' main criticism of present Protestant sex education programs is that they need to be more realistic and forthright in dealing with such "tough and sticky" problems as premarital pregnancy, contraceptive knowledge for the unmarried, the unwed mother and her place in society.

State Record in Employment During June

SACRAMENTO (AP)—State officials reported Friday total civilian employment in June reached an all time high of 7,743,000.

The June total was 89,000 above the May figure, and was 249,000 higher than June 1967.

The Department of Industrial Relations and the Department of Employment said settlement of some trade disputes between May and June contributed to the increase. They also said strikes during June 1967 lowered that month's employment figure, so the increase is somewhat inflated.

CONFIDENT LIVING

If You Believe You Can--Then You Can!

By NORMAN VINCENT
PEALE

I liked this taxi driver from the start. He flashed me a big smile. "Good morning!" he said. "A really great morning."

For a second I thought there must be something wrong with his eyesight. It was foggy and starting to rain. "Yes, sir," I agreed, "sure is a great morning."

We drove along, chatting casually about this and that. Stopping for a red light, he looked around and asked, "What's your name?" When I gave it he said, "I thought so. Listen to you on radio. I thought I recognized your voice."

"Well," I said, "I am pleased that you listen to me over the radio. You don't turn it off?"

"No, I stick with you most of the time."

"It's a pleasure to meet a friend like you," I said.

"I am glad to meet you, too. Funny you getting into my cab at this time." The words came slowly, with effort. "You see, my wife died. The funeral was just yesterday. We were married almost 30 years. You never saw a sweeter woman in your life. She was an angel. There was nothing but good in her. She loved everybody and everybody loved her. She was so sweet to me all those years. . . . I can't imagine living without her."

AS GENTLY as I knew how, I affirmed my own faith. "I don't believe you really will be without her. She will be thinking about you. She will be with you in spirit. You will feel her love comforting and cheering you."

"Thank you, thanks a lot," he said feelingly. "She was so wonderful. I wish you could have known her."

He was silent for a moment, then spoke again: "Life is full of trouble, isn't it? I've got five children. Four of them are real good, but one sure is a problem. He has taken to drugs and runs around with a bad crowd. He is full of hate and meanness. I am very worried about him. Can't seem to do a thing with him. It broke his poor mother's heart. Now I've got to be both mother and father to this kid."

I started to sympathize, but he interjected, "I know what you're going to say." And he assured me, "I have the same faith as you. Don't you worry about me."

Then he got off a tremendous statement. It had a familiar ring to it, as though I had heard it before. Maybe he had picked it up somewhere. But it could be that he figured it out himself.

What he said was, "You can be greater than anything that can happen to you." Isn't that a terrific thought!

To me there is nothing more thrilling in life than the wonderful people one meets. This man was a strong personality who believed the truth that a person having faith and trust is spiritually undefeatable. And he had learned to remember this and hold to it. So even in the pain and sorrow of bereavement and his deep anxiety for a son going seriously off the beam he was able to say, "You can be greater than anything that can happen to you." There are some great souls in this world and that man is one of them.

The important thing to realize is that potentially we all have this invincibility. Through the power inherent in faith you can have strength enough to keep anything from getting you down.

TV Scans Negro-Jewish Relations

"Pieties and Realities: A Look at Negro-Jewish Relations" will be presented on "Lamp Unto My Feet" Sunday, 8 a.m. P.D.T. on the CBS Television Network.

Filed during the recent 62nd American Jewish Committee convention in New York City, the broadcast analyzes relations between the black community and the Jewish community, touching specifically on the questions of Negro anti-Semitism and Jewish backlash.

Perhaps you may think, "This is a big order." It sure is. Faith power deals in big orders. Never minimize the fact that latent within you is the capacity to deal creatively with any situation or experience life may bring you. "If we did all the things we are capable of doing," said the great inventor, Thomas A. Edison, "we would literally astound ourselves."

IF WE possess such vast potentials how do we draw them into action? The first step is to take charge of your mind and really get its powerful activation in motion. W. Clement Stone was recently quoted as saying in an interview: "What the mind can conceive and believe, the mind can achieve."

Now Mr. Stone as a leading industrialist is no impractical theorist. He is a self-made man who grew up in such poverty that he had to drop out of high school in order to earn a decent living for himself and his widowed mother. He has accumulated a fortune estimated at one-third of a billion dollars and through his philanthropy has helped many people, especially boys.

Mr. Stone maintains, "If you say you can, you can." What your mind repeatedly affirms, you presently come to believe. And through belief comes power and power leads to effective action. Believe you can and you can.

Married Greek Priests Seen as Example

N.Y. Times Service

ATHENS — A Greek Orthodox biblical scholar predicts that the experience of Eastern Orthodoxy with a married clergy will eventually help the Roman Catholic Church to abandon its requirement that priests remain celibate.

In the Orthodox Church priests may marry before ordination. Bishops, however, are chosen from the celibate clergy.

Dr. Savas Agourides, a professor of New Testament at the University of Thessalonika, said the change is a likely effect of a "common language" that is developing between Orthodox and the other Christian traditions.

Other possible results, he added, include:

—The shortening of orthodox worship services and the eventual abandoning of long robes for priests.

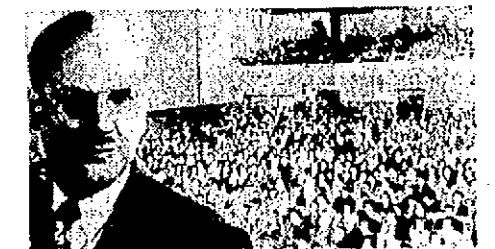

—A deepened sense of liturgy and respect for tradition among protestants.

—The introduction of modern byzantine art into the design of icons and less inclination to "dress Christ up like a byzantine emperor."

Dr. Agourides predicted a great deal of mutual assistance in solving ecclesiastical as well as theological problems.

"We can show the Roman Catholics how to have married clergy, for instance, and we have solved the problem of placing authority in the synod," he stated.

New Commander to 'Fighting Lady'

By BUCK LANIER
Military Editor

The USS Yorktown, famed "Fighting Lady" of World War II, Korea and now Vietnam has a new commanding officer.

Capt. William L. Bennett Jr. turned over the helm of his antisubmarine carrier Friday to Capt. John G. Fifield in a flight deck ceremony at Long Beach Naval Shipyard.

The commander of Naval Air Forces Pacific, Vice Adm. Allan Shinn, was represented by Rear Adm. C. A. Karaberis, Fleet Air Commander, San Diego.

ADM. KARABERIS told the command-ceremony audience that "Yorktown's antisubmarine surveillance on her last deployment was outstanding, particularly when she was ordered into the Sea of Japan following the USS Pueblo "capture" on Jan. 23.

Capt. Bennett moves now to chief-of-staff for Rear Adm. J.S. King, commander, Antisubmarine Warfare Group 1, also based at Long Beach.

The new skipper comes from a tour on the faculty of the Naval War College, Newport, R.I. He served earlier as skipper of the attack transport USS Montrose.

While deployed, the Yorktown's crew contributed over $12,000 to Long Beach's Navy Relief program — top mark among all Long Beach based ships.

IN A DESTROYER change of command at Long Beach, Cmdr. Richard L. Alford was relieved as the USS Brush's skipper by Cmdr. Curtis R. Norton Jr.

The new commanding officer comes from duty in Thailand. He had earlier duty in Long Beach as skipper of the ocean minesweeper USS Guide.

Under Cmdr. Alford, the Brush made two Vietnam deployments.

Guam Association of L.B. Slates 'Liberation' Dinner

Long Beach's Guamanian Association will celebrate the 24th anniversary of the island's liberation from Japan with a dinner-dance tonight at 6:30 in the Edgewater Inn Marina Hotel.

Rear Adm. Horace V. Bird, commander, U.S. Naval Base, and immediate past commander of Naval Forces, Marianas, based on Guam, will be guest of honor and principal speaker.

Other guests will include the speaker of Guam's Legislature, Sen. Joaquin Arrinla, and his wife.

TRADITIONAL SALUTE highlights change of command aboard Long Beach-based carrier USS Yorktown. At left, departing skipper Capt. William L. Bennett Jr., at far right new C. O., Capt. John G. Fifield. Also participating in ceremony were Rear Adm. J. S. King, second from left, and Rear Adm. C. A. Karaberis of Navy's Pacific Air Forces.

Vet Patient Wins Award in Writing

Mrs. Ingeborg Maria Lewin, a patient at Long Beach Veterans Administration Hospital, was among winners in the 22nd annual national contest of the Hospitalized Veterans Writing Project.

Dr. James S. Glatfely, hospital director, announced that Mrs. Lewin's entry, "Journey to Washington," won in the book review section.

The Hospitalized Veterans Writing Project is a national organization sponsored by volunteers to encourage hospitalized veterans to try creative writing for recreation and rehabilitation.

Library Design Contract Granted

A contract for the architect's design of a branch library in El Dorado Park West has been authorized by the Long Beach City Council.

Councilmen also voted to name the new facility the El Dorado Park Branch Library.

Architects Palmer W. Power and Thomas J. Morrison, a partnership, will design the single-story structure, which will face Studebaker Road, about 400 feet south of Spring Street. Estimated cost of the library is $230,000.

Cards Divide With Pirates

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Jose Pagan's sacrifice fly in the 10th inning lifted the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 5-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals and a split of their two-night doubleheader Friday.

The Cardinals won the first game 9-1 as Julian Javier drove in three runs and Roger Maris and Mike Shannon each behind the seven-hit pitching of Nelson Briles.

Gené Alley started the winning second-game rally with a one-out single. Matty Alou followed with an infield hit and the runners advanced to second and third when loser Wayne Granger missed the throw while covering first base.

After an intentional walk, Joe Hoerner relieved and pinch hitter Pagan flied to left field, ending St. Louis' five-game winning streak and Pittsburgh's four-game losing string.

Maris hit a two-run homer in the fifth inning of the opener and Shannon singled in two runs in the three-run seventh. Javier doubled home one of two runs in the fourth and singled home runs in the seventh and ninth.

Braves Sweep Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Winning pitcher Mill Pappas singled in the go-ahead run and Joe Torre homered and doubled in the eighth to lead the Atlanta Braves to a 3-2 victory and doubleheader sweep over the Philadelphia Phillies Friday night after Hank Aaron's three-run ninth-inning homer won the opener 5-4.

The twin defeats extended Philadelphia's losing streak to nine games, the longest since the Phils blew a 6½-game lead in the last two weeks of the 1964 season by losing 10 in a row.

Koosman Met Hero, Tops Reds

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie Jerry Koosman pitched a four-hitter and Ron Swoboda drove in both runs with a pair of groundouts as the New York Mets blanked the Cincinnati Reds 2-0 Friday night.

Koosman struck out eight in winning his 14th game, a season record for a Met left-hander. He has lost five.

Koosman got the only run he needed to snap the Reds' six-game winning streak in the second inning.

La Mirada, Lakewood Vie in Pony Finals

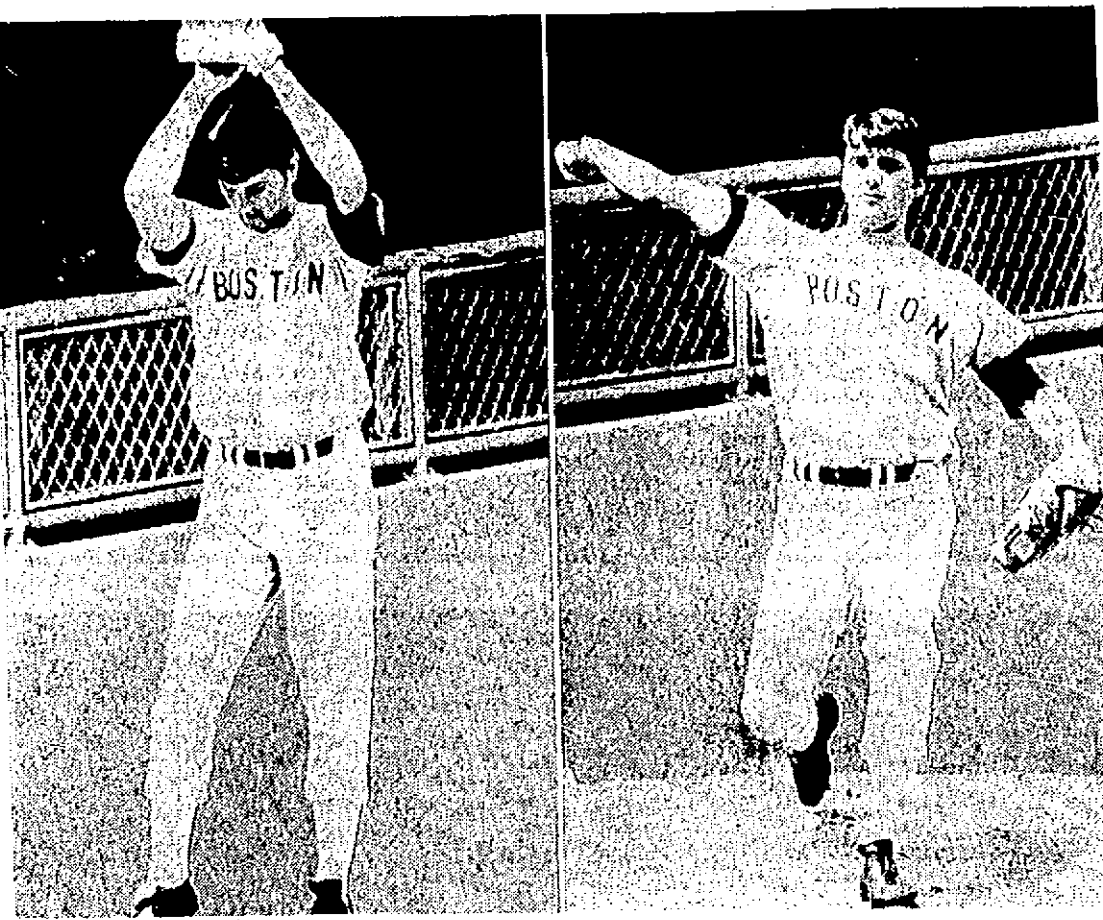

Lakewood combined single runs in the fourth and fifth innings and the fourth pitching of Stew Smith to defeat Rossmore-Los Alamitos 2-0 in the Pony District Tournament at Heartwell Park Friday night.

Smith went all the way for the win, striking out 10 and walking four. Loser Rick Quinn struck out nine in going the full seven innings.

In the second game Mike Walsh pitched a one-hitter and Mike Stuesser drove in the winning run to move Artesia past La Mirada, 1-0, and into the finals tonight with Lakewood at 8.

Bill Daniels, who gave up only two hits, took the loss.

Wynn's Belt Sinks Giants

HOUSTON (AP) — Jim Wynn hit a three-run homer Friday night, sparking the Houston Astros to a 4-1 victory over San Francisco.

It was the first home run in the Astrodome since June 28.

The Astros scored off starter Ray Sadecki, (10-11) in the fifth when Ron Brund walked, advanced on a sacrifice and scored on Dick Simpson's single.

Wynn's homer in the eighth clinched Denny Lemaster's ninth victory against 10 losses.

It followed Simpson's double and an intentional

Nitehawks Beaten in 10 Innings

Ron Smith held the Long Beach Nitehawks to only three hits in 10 innings Friday night at Recreation Park as Anaheim emerged with a 1-0 Western Softball Congress win.

Dick Murrane walked to open the 10th, was sacrificed to second and scored on a single by Duane Duncan. The win elevated Anaheim's league record to 14-16 while the Hawks are now 13-19.

Smith, who struck out five, was in trouble in the second and third innings when the Hawks had runners on second and third, but settled down and was never in serious trouble after that.

CINCY SPORTS COMPLEX IN HOT WATER

CINCINNATI (AP) — Construction of Cincinnati's riverfront sports stadium hit another snag Friday.

Hamilton County officials have stopped payment on their $7.5 million share of access roads and stadium planners regard the road project as vital to the whole stadium undertaking.

Both the Cincinnati Reds and the Cincinnati Bengals of the American Football League are scheduled to use the $40 million plus stadium which will be city-owned and financed by revenue bonds.

McMAHON TO TIGERS FOR RIBANT

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) — The Detroit Tigers sent relief pitcher Dennis Ribant to the Chicago White Sox Friday for reliever Don McMahon in a straight waiver deal which included no money changing hands.

Ribant, a 26-year-old right-hander who previously pitched for the New York Mets and Pittsburgh Pirates, had a 2-2 record with Detroit this year. He owns a 24-27 lifetime mark.

McMahon, one of the most traveled pitchers in the majors at 38, had a 2-1 record with the White Sox. He previously pitched for the Milwaukee Braves, Houston Astros, Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox.

Rookie Gives Tigers Relief

BALTIMORE (AP) — Rookie reliever Daryl Patterson fanned three Baltimore batters with the bases loaded in the sixth inning, preserving first place Detroit's 4-1 victory over the runner-up Orioles Friday night.

The Tigers, in a 7-9 slump since the All-Star break, increased their American League lead to 6½ games over the Orioles.

Patterson, the third Detroit hurler in the sixth, stuck out pinch hitter Fred Valentine and Brooks Robinson on seven pitches and then Dave Johnson took a third strike 3-2 pitch.

Boog Powell's 17th homer gave Baltimore its run in the eighth.

Yankees Shut Out Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Joe Pepitone drove in three runs behind Mel Stottlemyre's seven-hit pitching and the New York Yankees halted the Cleveland Indians, 5-0, Friday night.

Pepitone followed Roy White's double in the first inning with one of his own off Sam McDowell for a 1-0 lead. McDowell settled down and struck out 10 hitters in eight innings, but his own error led to three more runs in the eighth.

Singles by Bob Cox and Horace Clarke put runners on first and third and McDowell's throwing error scored one before Pepitone singled in two runs. The Yankees added another run in the ninth.

Red Sox Hold Off Senators

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dick Ellsworth spun a seven-hitter and Elston Howard cracked a home run Friday night, leading the Boston Red Sox to a 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators.

Ellsworth, in posting his ninth win against five losses, held the Senators hitless until Frank Howard singled leading off the fifth inning. He weakened in the ninth, however, when he yielded the only Washington run on singles by Brant Alyea, Ken McMullen and Paul Casanova.

Lynwood Ousts L.B. in Colt Play

By CHUCK MEDICK

Lynwood rallied for four runs in the seventh inning to defeat stunned Long Beach, 6-5, in the Colt Sectional Tournament at Blair Field Friday night.

Catcher Paul Volpp's single drove home the tying and winning runnings after Dave Emery had relieved starter Danny Drake.

Lynwood committed seven errors behind Starter Keith Baldwin and Arnie Walker, who picked up the win in relief.

Norwalk blanked La Mirada, 1-0 in Friday's opener.

Big Field Headlines Del Mar

Broad Shadows, the top-weight at 122 pounds, will face a dozen fellow three-year-olds, including his conqueror in last year's Del Mar Futurity, Baffle, in today's 22nd edition of the $15,000-added Oceanside Handicap at six furlongs.

The Oceanside Handicap kicks off the 1968 Del Mar stakes schedule while also highlighting the first weekend racing program of the new meeting.

Broad Shadows, who appears at the peak of his form, will be tackling a difficult assignment in the Oceanside since the opposition also includes such sophomore stars as First Mate and American Tiger.

Despite the impost and an outside post position, Broad Shadows probably will be the favorite. The chestnut son of Windy Sands, winner of the Futurity Trial last summer reeled off two speedy victories at Hollywood Park and then was a hard-knocking third behind older horses Speedy King and Kissin' George in the Lakes and Flowers Handicap.

Travel Orb, one of the top couple of seasons ago, rekindled memories of his glory days with an impressive come-from-behind triumph Friday in the featured $5,500 Hope Guild Purse.

Inevitable galloped to an easy seven-lengths triumph in the Peninsula Purse on the grass Friday at Aqueduct Race Track.

Manuel Yeaza was aboard the 3-year-old daughter of Intentionally Gold Finery, who raced the 1 1/16 miles in 1:42.

Inevitable paid $8.40, $4.60 and $3.60. May's Guide paid $3.60 and $2.80 and Spire was $3.00 to show.

Perfect Looker held off the late bids of Gallarush and I Be Dandy and won the Bed O' Roses Purse by a diminishing three-quarters of a length at Delaware Park.

The winning time for the mile grass event for fillies and mares was 1:39.

Perfect Looker paid $13, $4.80 and $3.40. Gallarush, who nosed out I Be Dandy, paid $2.80 and $2.40 while I Be Dandy was $2.80.

Vernon Dancer has reached a milestone in his harness racing career. The veteran driver won his 1,000th race, scoring with Senior Hanover, $3.40, at Pocono Downs.

Sir Winzalat hung on to capture the $10,000 feature race at Arlington Park by defeating favored Steel Pike by one length.

Ridden by Calvin Stone, Sir Winzalat returned $4, $4 and $2.60. Steel Pike paid $3.40 and $2.40 and Del Bee was $2.40 to show.

Truly Night Bids for Double at Alamitos

Truly Night, easy winner in the $8,000 inaugural opening night Tuesday, comes right back to head a nine-horse field in the featured $8,000 Double Bid to night as Los Alamitos winds up its first week of racing under the arcs.

Gates to the track open at 6 o'clock with first post at 7:45.

The Double Bid, honoring the famous runner of the late 1950's and current top quarter horse sire, is a new stakes at Los Alamitos. The distance is 350 yards.

Charlie Smith, who missed Friday's races because he was riding in the Rainbow Derby trials, returns to the Orange County track this evening to ride Truly Night.

Above Parr 2, the nation's best three-year-old in 1967, makes his initial start of the meeting. Local fans best remember him off his second place finish to Duplicate Copy in the $40,000 Los Alamitos championship last fall.

Trish's Moon figures to be a major threat in the Double Bid off his track record performance at the recent Bay Meadows meeting. He was clocked in 20 seconds flat for 400 yards, breaking the mark of 20.1 set by Duplicate Copy in 1966.

Also in the Double Bid are Barlow Rocket, Tom Lyon, Mr. Rocket Bar, Lumpjaw, Doll Bid and Off Limits.

Angels Stymied

his present pace the 26-year-old Wood will break the major league record for appearances in a season. The mark is 85 set by Chicago Cub pitcher Ted Abernathy in 1965.

"It's hard to say if I'll get the record," said Wood. "It really depends on how our starting pitchers do."

Wood began to use the knuckleball last season and admits teammate Hoyt Wilhelm was a major influence. "When you see a guy like Hoyt Wilhelm using the knuckleball and still pitching at 45 it makes you feel kind of good," said Wood.

Wood, a left-hander, says he uses the knuckleball about 80 per cent of the time. "That pitch gave me a new outlook," says Wood.

"That Horien escapes us every time," said Rigney.

The Halos, however, helped Horien get off the hook with their poor execution. Tom Satriano lead off the Angel second with a single but was thrown out attempting to reach third after Bob Rodgers' solid single to right.

It was a wild pitch by Wright that moved Held into scoring position in the eighth inning.

In addition to his two liners to right that escaped Repoz, Josephson was credited with a single when his liner got by Fregosi at shortstop.

As Josephson said, he could have been 0-for-4. But he was happy about the 3-for-4.

Kaweah Bar stamped himself as the horse to beat in the $100,000-added Kindergarten Stakes Labor Day by easily winning the $8,000 Leo Friday night before a crowd of 13,755.

The two-year-old son of Alamitos-Bar jumped to the front coming out to the gate and was never headed in the 350-yard dash, winning by one and three-quarters lengths in 17.9 seconds.

Bobby Adair was aboard the winner for his third successive triumph as he also won with Lightning Ridge for a $30 payoff in the sixth and with Roan Menace for a $7.40 return in the seventh.

The daily double paid $228.80 when Fire Rocket ($30.60) and Marietta Two ($13.20) won the first two races.

RACING ROUNDUP

Dark Mirage Aims for Ninth in Row

Brilliant Little Dark Mirage is a heavy favorite to keep a sensational streak of success going at Delaware Park and Ogdon Phipps' Reviewer hopes to keep a more modest string intact at Monmouth Park in today's thoroughbred racing program.

Dark Mirage, first horse to sweep New York's triple crown for fillies, will be aiming for her ninth consecutive victory and eighth consecutive stakes triumph in the $58,000-added Delaware Oaks.

Lloyd I. Miller's charge has been assigned top weight of 121 pounds in the 1 1/4-mile test for 3-year-old fillies, but the race is expected to be as close to a one-horse affair as possible.

Dark Mirage, under Manny Ycaza, will have only three opponents—Louise Clements' Sale Day, and Walter M. Jeffords Jr.'s entry of Singing Rain and Inge—and because of the low number of entries, the race will be run as an exhibition with no betting.

Reviewer, a 2-year-old by Bold Ruler out of Broadway, is favored to extend his unbeaten string to three in the $100,000-added Sapping Stakes.

However, he faces opposition in the six furlong race from such promising youngsters as Top Knight, Cicada's Pride and Night Invader.

Also on tap are the Tidal Handicap for 3-year-olds and up over 1 1/4 miles on the grass at Aqueduct and the 13/16-mile Citation Handicap for 3-year-olds and up on the turf at Arlington Park. Both are $50,000-added attractions.

MacConn Farms' Irish Rebellion, the 5-2 favorite and top weighted at 124, heads a field of 10 for the Tidal. Other starters are More Scents, 122; Flit-To, 119; Pass the Brandy, 113; Sea Castle, 113; Czar Alexander, 112; Go Marching, 112; Rego, 110, and Sol Naciente III, 109.

Rokeby Stable's Fort March tops the Citation Handicap field, which also includes Hasty House Farm's Niarkos, James Chapman's Out the Window and George Gardner's The Knack 11.

Also scheduled today is the Keene Handicap at Rockingham Park.

screen and was in play. The Dodgers argued at the time and continued later, although the vital run did score as Zoilo Versalles followed with a double.

A TV replay left the call in doubt, but the Dodger bullpen and road secretary Lee Scott, a bleacher spectator, said the ball cleared the fence and bounced back after hitting the back wall.

Two of Fairly's three hits were in the infield, a first for him. "The last time I had two leg hits was in 1958 for USC," said Fairly, who never has been noted for his speed.

Champion Welcomed

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Jose Legra, Cuban-born Spaniard, was given a rousing reception when he returned from London Friday after winning the world featherweight boxing crown from Howard Winstone of Wales in Porthcawl Wednesday.
